

Another storm brewing

Snow shuts Romulus, Huron schools for a day

Although students in the Romulus Community School District had an unscheduled one-day vacation on Monday, they were back in the classrooms on Tuesday.

"The city did an excellent job of clearing the snow from the roads," said Supt. of Schools William Bedell, "and, after surveying the area, we felt there was no reason to keep the schools closed on Tuesday.

"I would like to commend those who were responsible for doing the job (of clearing the snow from the roads) for a job well done. I don't even know who to thank, but I can say this that most of the roads in the subdivisions and the lots were passable, allowing for our buses and cars to get through," Supt. Bedell noted.

In an unrelated matter, the Romulus School Board last week reviewed plans for closing at least two elementary schools that would save the school district approximately $240,000 annually.

"We have had a Citizen's Committee working on a study to see which school buildings we could close," Supt. Bedell said, "and board members were given an opportunity to review their recommendations."

There are presently four schools — Beverly, Haiti, Barth and Mt. Pleasant — that are being considered for closing, according to the committee's report. However, no decision has been made to which of the schools will be shut.

"My recommendation to the Board would be to close Beverly and Mt. Pleasant," Bedell said, "but it willultimately be their decision."

The board is expected to act on the recommendation later this month.

In other action, the school board authorized the superintendent to reimburse parents — or pay them directly — for uninsured ambulance fees in connection with an injury or accident that occurs during the school day or school events.

Romulus will be represented in Lansing today when a group led by Pat Ditsch and Sandra Langley will meet with state legislators in hopes of garnering financial support for schools.

At their meeting held on Jan. 25, the Board went on record as supporting the trip and encouraging participation by as many local citizens as possible.

Mayor lauds DPW crews

Mayor William Oakley today applauded the Department of Public Works and the Police Department for their efforts during Sunday's snow storm.

"We were one of the few communities who has passable roads, and we can thank the staunch efforts of our municipal employees for that. They did an admirable job under very adverse weather conditions."

Mayor Oakley, moreover, urged citizens to keep their cars off the roads during the emergency. "They're predicting another 10 inches of snow for today, and it's going to be rough on all of us. If residents would remember to keep their cars off the streets, it would be easier for our plows to clean and clear the snow off them."

New county district plan

If you're wondering what the recently approved Wayne County Apportionment Plan has in store for this area, well, the newly-formed district (District II) will include cities of Belleville, Romulus, Wayne, and the townships of Canton, Huron, Sumpter, and Van Buren and a small portion of Westland, beginning at the point of the western limits of the City of Westland and Joy, east of Joy to Newburg, south on Newburg to Ford, east on Ford to Wayne, south on Wayne to Palmer, west on Palmer to Treadwell, south on Treadwell to Glenwood, west on Glenwood to the western limits of Westland, north on the western limits to Joy.

Yes, you do need a map to follow all of that.

Silk is topic of class

Registration for a silk and dried flower arranging class will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 18, at the Romulus Recreation Department, 3515 Bibbins.

Classes will be held from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Thursdays, beginning Feb. 25. The six-week class costs $12. Supplies are extra.

Monday morning headache

As area residents dug out of 10 inches of snow that the season's worst storm dumped on Sunday, Mother Nature was ready to come back with another wallop on Wednesday as weather forecasters warned that a possibility existed for a similar-like blizzard shaping up in the plains. Most residents were able to cope with Monday's headache, but an additional snowfall would probably shut down the cities and townships completely.

City clerk to offer solution in 'Accounts Payable' dilemma

There appears to be an end to the stalemate over "Accounts Payable."

City Clerk Raymond Cantrell and Romulus Mayor William Oakley have been at odds over whose department should handle that function. Oakley contends that it is the function of the finance department, while Cantrell argues that the work has been delegated to the City Clerk's Office via the City Charter.

An informal opinion by the Attorney General's Office last week didn't solve the problem. The Attorney General pointed out that the function is a procedural one and its office would not and legally couldn't impose a system on a local unit of government.

"I'm hopeful that this thing will be resolved soon," Cantrell said. "We're working toward a solution to end this stalemate and I will be offering a solution to Council and the Mayor this week."

In the meantime, Council picked up the dialogue on the argument at last week's meeting as councilman Barry Baumann chastised the two antagonists for not solving their problem.

"I feel that this is a disgrace to our community that this thing has not been solved by now," Baumann said. "I'm appalled at what I am witnessing here and, I don't think we should be reading about this every week in the newspaper. It should come to an end."

"The bottom line is that people aren't getting paid and this is an insult to the people of our community," Baumann added.

Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks agreed with Baumann and pointed out "that I don't believe we should let those who do business with this city pay for our internal problems."

Councilman Pete Bergeron moved that the city attorney take necessary action to resolve the problem" and with Councilman Jimmie Raspberry casting the lone "no" vote, the motion passed.

Gas station robbed

Storm doesn't stop gunmen

Buried in 10 inches of snow on Sunday, the area braced for another battle with snow today as weather forecasters predicted another 10 inches of snow and rain were on its way today.

Although most of the main roads in Romulus and nearly all of the sidestreets were cleared of the snow, a second helping of the snow could paralyze the city and the area, according to officials.

"Except for the usual problems connected with the snow," said Huron Township Police Chief Joseph Carney, "we have not had serious problems. There have been a few abandoned vehicles that we have been forced to tow away, however, their owners were back the next day to retrieve them."

In Romulus, Mayor William Oakley commended the quick and excellent work by Department of Public Works employees "who did an exceptional job clearing the snow and making the roads passable."

"I think we were one of the few City Halls in the area that was open on Monday," Mayor Oakley said. "I wish to commend the DPW and the police department for their work under some very trying circumstances."

Mayor Oakley urged residents "to please keep their cars off of the roads during the emergency in order for DPW crews and rescue units to get their job done."

"We do have an ordinance that prohibits residents to park their cars on the roadways during such emergencies," Oakley noted, "and motorists can be fined. However, I feel that if they would take caution and time to park their vehicles in their driveways, they would be helping all of us at this time."

Det. Kenneth Kraus of the Romulus Police Department said that the department wasn't having difficulty coping with the snow, "but, ironically, it (the snow) hasn't stopped the criminal activity in the city."

On Monday, two robbers held up an employee and patron of a gas station and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash. The two gunmen entered the station on the 29000 block of Ecorse Rd. with the pretense of purchasing some gas.

One of the robbers asked the employee, Sean Mattice, if he could buy a

Police nab 3 suspects

A telephone tip by an alert citizen led to the arrest of three suspects who reportedly were attempting to steal a motor vehicle.

According to police reports, officers received a call that three subjects were trying to break into a vehicle at the Metro Park Apartments on Merriman.

While officers were en route, the caller contacted police for a second time and informed them that a vehicle had been stolen and two vehicles were departing from the apartment complex.

Police officers from Romulus observed the vehicle reported stolen and a second car entering I-94. An attempt was made to stop the two cars, at which time the drivers accelerated to high speeds in an attempt to elude the officers.

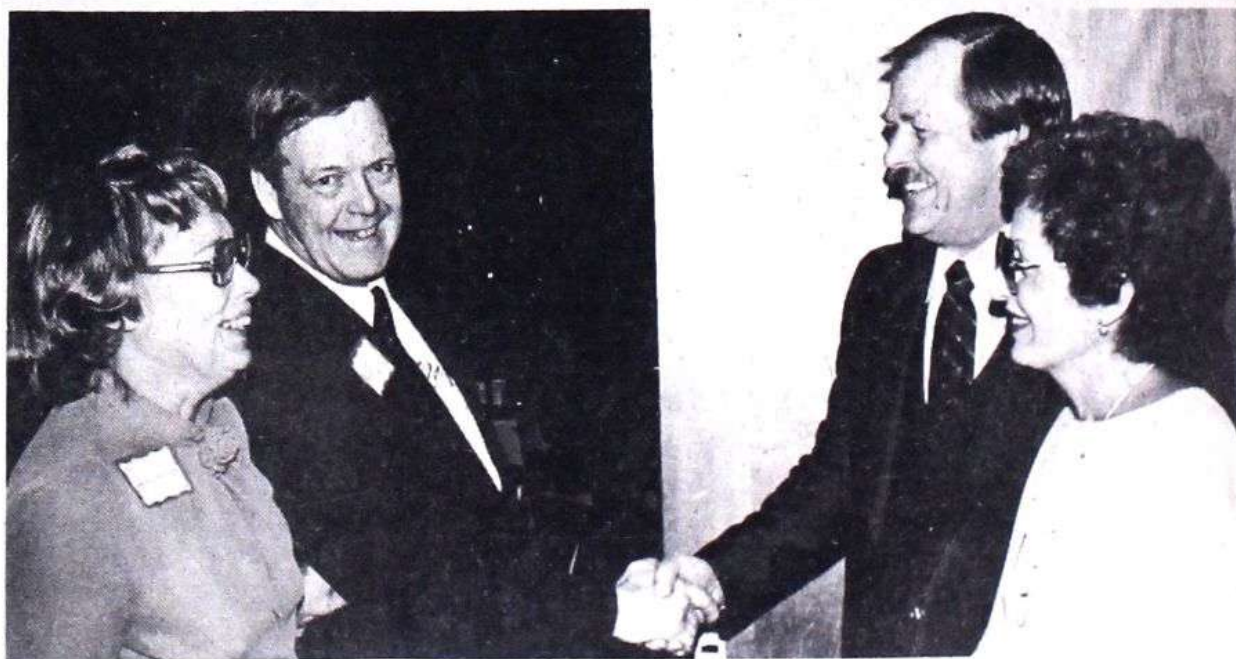

A chase followed in which units from the State Police and Detroit Police joined. The suspects were apprehended and arrested for unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle.

Arrested were Anthony Cunningham, 17, Vincent Davis, 18, and Calvin McClellan, Jr., 21, all of Detroit. The three men were charged with auto theft and bond was set at $3,000 each.

Examination was set for Feb. 3 in Romulus District Court.

An inaugural meeting

More than 300 local, county, state and federal officials turned out Saturday for Romulus Mayor William Oakley's sixth annual Inaugural Ball staged at the Hilton Airport Inn. Here Mayor Oakley and his wife welcome Shirley and Dean Burcroff (at left) to the ball. Mayor Oakley told his audience that the city faces many challenges in the future because of the limitations of finances and mass unemployment, and he feels that, with support from his citizens, he and his administration will be able to find solutions for many of the problems.

Blanchard comes courtin'

James Blanchard, the gregarious congressman from Pleasant Ridge, was in town the other day in hopes of drumming up support for his candidacy for governor. Sandwiched between Van Buren Township Supervisor Patricia Cullin (photo above) and Romulus Mayor William Oakley, Blanchard heard about the problems of the area before he told an audience at Pine Grove Club why he should become the first Democrat in more than a decade to occupy the Governor's Mansion in Lansing. In the photo at the left, Blanchard and Sumpter Supervisor James Reeves discuss some of the problems of regulating landfills in the area. Reeves told Blanchard that the DNR will have a fight on its hands if it continues with its present policy of allowing hazardous wastes in the township.

For governor's job

Blanchard seeks area support

William G. Milliken doesn't want to be Governor of Michigan. He has held the job for over a decade, and the man from Traverse City feels it's time to pass the political baton to someone else.

And there are many who wish to grab that prestigious and powerful job.

One such person is James Blanchard, the congressman from Pleasant Ridge. A Democrat, Blanchard was in town the other day to drum up support—and money—for his candidacy.

"We need a governor who can fight for greater cooperation with Washington and who can bind the wounds between labor and industry caused by massive unemployment. We need better relationships and understanding between labor, business and government, and I feel I'm the man who can get that job done," Blanchard told an audience filled with local politicians and elected officials at Pine Grove Club.

"My district has many more Republicans than Democrats and I have been able to represent them—and I feel I can bring that strength with me to Lansing next year."

Blanchard will have a fight on his hands during the August primary where some seven candidates have announced their availability to run on the Democratic ticket.

Blanchard could face Gary Corbin, state senator from Mio; Zolton Ferency, former party chairman from Detroit; William Fitzgerald, former state senator from Detroit; Kerry Kammer, state senator from Clarkston; Edward Plawewski, state senator from Dearborn Heights; John Safran, attorney from Lapeer County and Robert Tisch, tax-cut crusader from Shiawassee county in the primary.

On the Republican side, announced candidates for governor include James Brickley, lieutenant governor; Richard Headlee, tax-limitation advocate from Farmington Hills; L. Brooks Patterson, Oakland County prosecutor, and John Welborn, state senator from Kalamazoo.

Canton approves $162,000 for Canton Center Park

The sounds of earth-moving equipment will soon be heard behind Township Hall since the Trustee Board approved spending $162,000 for development of "Canton Center Park."

Actually, the new park behind Canton Township Hall since the Trustee Board approved spending $162,000 for development of "Canton Center Park." Actually, the new park doesn't have an official name yet but the Board approved the master plan Tuesday night at its regular meeting. The Trustees, as part of the same motion, approved spending the $162,000 that had already been allocated for the project.

"On behalf of the Recreation Advisory Committee, I am requesting that the Township Board approve the master plan for the Township Hall Park and approve the committee's recommendation for phase I development," Gouin said.

Included in the $162,000 total, which came from revenue sharing funds, was $58,950 for earthwork, $42,000 for parking and site drainage, $28,450 for lawn seeding and tree transplanting and $18,950 for four ball diamonds and several soccer fields, including fencing, benches, goals and other necessary items. Also, $12,650 was sent aside for contingencies.

The vote to approve the master plan and start Phase I was 6-1, with Carol Bodenmiller dissenting. Mrs. Bodenmiller argued that Canton's present Zoning Ordinance did not permit the locating of a park on the land directly behind the Township Hall because it is zoned agricultural.

"The whole western half of the township has to be rezoned," she said. "You're going to end up with piecemeal type of zoning." She made the point that if the township rezoned land for its purposes that residents would demand the same thing.

Community Planner Jim Kosteva explained that local governments are somewhat exempt from the stringent regulations of zoning because of its need to provide many services to the residents.

"If you pursue the argument of complying with the Zoning Ordinance strictly, the Township Hall should not have been built where it is," Kosteva gave as an example. The land is zoned agricultural.

The Canton Planner said that following Zoning Ordinance regulations pertained mainly to such things as building codes, complying with set back distances and having the required number of parking spaces.

Mrs. Bodenmiller asked Kosteva if the land immediately north and south of the park site was zone agricultural. He replied that it was. She asked if building a recreation complex on the land behind Township Hall would have a definite influence on the value of adjacent land. Kosteva said he did not think it would have much of an influence on the surrounding agricultural land.

In addition to approving the $162,000 to be spent on Phase I of Township Hall Park, the Board voted 5-2 to approve the master plan and a preliminary site plan that included a multi-million dollar multi-purpose community center. Bodenmiller and Steve Larson voted against that motion.

Instead of the original $2 million multi-use community center, architects hired by the township made an extensive study of community recreation needs and came up with elaborate plans that call for a $6 million recreation complex.

"I'm extremely happy that the Board approved our spending the money to start Phase I of Township Hall Park," Gouin said after the meeting. "The money had already been earlier approved by the board and set aside from revenue sharing funds. But it was gratifying to see the Board's response to the recreational needs of our community—especially in light of tough economic times."

Gouin said that Canton Township is still playing "catch-up" in providing recreational opportunities for its residents. Gouin told the Board he would like to receive alternate bids on site work for an additional 10 acres and for a creative play area. "If money is available, this would give us two additional soccer fields and a much needed play area for the young children.

"If you approve this plan, the architects will immediately begin preparing detailed engineering drawings and bid documents. Construction could then take place this spring and summer which would mean that the park would be available to the community by the summer of 1983."

Gouin told the Board that the Canton Soccer Club is going to conduct fundraising activities this year with the profits earmarked for further improvements to the new park.

"In addition, many businesses in Canton have indicated a willingness to assist the Township with this project by providing services and materials at cost. This may well result in savings that could be applied to improvements in other areas of the park," Gouin said.

The Board did approve the $162,000 for Phase I development of the new park. However, even though the Board approved the site plan for the multi-use community center, there was no money allocated for the project.

Speaking of the $6 million multi-use community center, Supervisor Jim Poole said in jest, "Money is no object because we'll never get that amount."

6-member panel to probe cheating on CCSC examination

Wayne County Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner has appointed a six-member committee from the Board to investigate alleged irregularities of the County Civil Service Commission and the Department of Public Works in a recent examination.

The first meeting of the committee is scheduled for Feb. 3, at 1 p.m., in Conference Room "C" on the 7th floor of the City-County Building in Detroit.

Members of the Committee are: Arthur M. Carter and George F. Killeen, Co-Chairmen; Paul G. Citkowski; Jackie L. Currie; Edward K. Michalski; and Mary E. Dumas. All represent Detroit districts except Mrs. Dumas, from Livonia.

The committee will conduct their investigation separately from other on going investigations by the Civil Service Commission and the Public Works Department, said Turner.

Charges in the incident concern claims of favoritism for a public works employee among 22 applicants tested for a $19,000 Wastewater Specialist job.

Purportedly, the privileged employee had access to the test information about a week before it was officially administered.

Also, the County Prosecutor's Office has investigated the incident, but determined that no crime was committed.

'Discover Good Health'

Seniors are offered free health screenings

Area senior citizens who made a New Year's resolution to "Discover Good Health" can do exactly that at two free health screenings in February.

Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) is sponsoring medical testing on February 10 at Romulus Senior Drop-in Center, 36515 Bobbins, Romulus. You must have an appointment to participate, so call 295-3464 to schedule the time of your screening.

On February 17, the PCHA health screening will be held at Annapolis Hospital, 33155 Annapolis, in Wayne. Call 722-4400 for an appointment.

The full screening consists of vision and hearing tests, respiration and TB testing, blood pressure check, blood chemistry or urinalysis and health information and counseling by professional staff.

You must be 60 years of age or older to participate in the "Discover Good Health" screening program.

The Sixth Annual Inaugural Ball It was a gala affair attended by more than 300

William Oakley has his niche in Romulus history.

The only man ever re-elected to the highest post in the city, Mayor Oakley launched an unprecedented third term vowing that "this city, our people — all of us — can be proud of our progress and accomplishments."

The remarks came at the sixth Inaugural Ball staged Saturday evening at the Hilton Airport Inn. Some 300 persons, including representatives from county, state and the federal government were on hand for the festivities.

"To revitalize our city we will need each and everyone's support," the Mayor said. "There are a lot of positive things going on in our community and we must build on them. Nothing has ever been accomplished by accentuating the negatives"

What did he say, mayor?

Don't know what Romulus Police Chief Donald Flood had to say, but his boss, Mayor William Oakley broke into a smile during a pause in the festivities at the sixth annual Inaugural Ball. More than 300 citizens showed up to participate in the ceremonies and hear Mayor Oakley outline the future goals of his administration and city.

Judge and the sheriff

Although he hasn't announced that he is a candidate for the Wayne County executive post, Sheriff William Lucas (at left) was among the hundreds who attended the Inaugural Ball. Here the sheriff chitchats with District Judge James B. Stone of the 34th District Court.

Nemos meets rec. director

Romulus Parks and Recreation Director Dennis Davison (at left) pauses to exchange some thoughts with John Brimble, owner of Capt.

Nemos in Romulus during the ball. Good food and good recreation are always an excellent mixture.

Food for thought

Among the lovely couples who showed up for the ball were Wadi and Hana Yono, owners of the Super-Y-Market on Middlebelt and Ecorse. Most the participants managed to have an excellent time and got away before the 10 inch snow fall.

The host committee and the hosts

William Oakley and his lovely wife, Mary, have the delectable problem of cutting up a huge cake for the hundreds of residents and V.I.P.s who showed up Saturday for the Inaugural.

Two arrested in break-in Huron Township police arrested two brothers who are charged with breaking and entering an occupied dwelling.

The suspects, Charles Allen Chall, 27, and Dennis Charles Chall, 31, were arraigned in 34th District Court and were scheduled to reappear today in court to answer to the charge.

The Challs were arrested after an alert citizen phoned police that there was a suspicious vehicle in the neighborhood. Police responded to the area and watched as the suspects went into a garage, then bolted across a field.

The two suspects escaped and made their way to a house. According to police the suspects convinced the homeowner that their car had broken down and they needed a lift. The man obliged and drove the men to a bar in Taylor where police later arrested them.

The robber took an undetermined amount of money from the station's till and also robbed the patron of an undetermined amount of cash.

Officer Davenport said that programs such as Neighborhood Watch and Crime Prevention are helping to deter crime in the city.

Area PTA leaders 'to invade' Lansing

Area PTA leaders and supporters will peacefully "invade" Lansing in early February to ask state officials to respond to urgent public school financing problems.

Petitions bearing more than 30,000 signatures from 475 Michigan communities will be presented to Gov. William G. Milliken at 10 a.m., Wednesday, Feb. 10. The petitions demand that the governor and the Legislature address the financial crisis now facing Michigan public school districts.

Dr. Elven E. Duvall, state PTA president, said, "Financial problems facing public education in Michigan have reached crisis proportions. More and more school districts are on the brink of bankruptcy, due partly to recent state cuts. Parents and other citizens, through these petitions, demand that:

- there be no more reductions in public education funding for K-12.
- the Legislature restore state dollars to public education.
- the governor and state leaders give the highest priority to the planning and implementation of an equitable and adequate K-12 financing formula. The PTA president also urged the governor and Legislature to open communication channels with PTA and other concerned citizen groups.

Duvall emphasized further PTA involvement by announcing the formation of "The Citizens' Coalition for K-12 Funding for Public Education." The group includes 12 other citizen organizations.

Following the Feb. 10 presentation in the governor's office, hundreds of concerned citizens for all parts of the state will assemble on the Capitol steps at 10:15 a.m. to rally for their cause.

State Education Department officials and legislators have been invited to meet the assembly and several are expected to address the rally, according to Duvall.

"The overwhelming public response to the advisory petition effort, over a short, two-month period, represents only the 'tip of the iceberg' and reflects grave citizen concerns," Duvall pointed out.

The 70,000-member Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers and Students (PTA) has its state headquarters in Lansing.

Woodburning seminar set

Buying, using, growing and storing wood will be the theme of the free educational seminar, "Wood As Energy," scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. by the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service.

Forestry specialists from Michigan State University will be on hand to discuss and illustrate purchasing a wood-burning stove, growing your own fuelwood, and safe installation of stoves. An extensive display of woodburning stoves and fireplace inserts will be on display. A special Extension display on safe installation of stoves will be available.

The seminar will be held at the Wayne County Extension and Education Center, 5454 Venoy Road, Wayne, located between Michigan Avenue and Van Born Road.

A 'W.I.E.L.D.' tribute

When W.I.E.L.D., an acronym for Women In Educational Leadership Development, needed a home-base, they turned to Romulus Superintendent of Schools, William Bedell and the school board which lent their facilities at Barth School. The program's specific goals include development of techniques and competencies in management, organizational change, examination of business and behavioral sciences which are relevant to the practice of effective administration in the quest to help assist women, minorities and handicapped persons maximize their career potential, among other things. Last week, members of W.I.E.L.D. presented Supt. Bedell with a certificate of appreciation and in the ceremonies are Mrs. Beverly Kellogg, art teacher at Romulus Senior High (from left), Ellis Stewart, principal at Barth School, Dr. Bedell, Dr. Jesella Gipsen-Simpson, Director of W.I.E.L.D., Wayne State University and Lois Avery, Barth Elementary School Learning Center Specialist.

Residency questioned

Inkster school board president, Charles White, to fight ouster

Inkster School Board president Charles White showed up for Tuesday night's board meeting but neither he nor the board members had much to say.

Under fire because he allegedly doesn't reside in the school district, White apparently is ready to fight for the seat on the board. However, Dr. Clinton Jones moved and received support to adjourn the meeting and reschedule an executive session for Friday.

Dr. Jones' motion received approval, 4-2, with trustee John Rucker and George Williams casting the "No" votes.

Last week, the board voted to "post the vacancy" for the seat presently held by White and didn't vote for White's ouster, as reported in The Ledger Star. Supt. of Schools Garnett L. Hegeman, Jr. explained:

"To clarify the specific action taken on January 19, 1982 by the Inkster Board of Education, the board didn't vote to declare the seat vacant. However, the action was taken by a 4-2 vote to 'post for the vacancy.' Mrs. Mary Burge (trustee), did, in fact, make a motion to nominate Mrs. Jessie Shelby, a former board president, to fill the vacancy."

"But that motion received a 3-3 vote, and, therefore, failed due to the lack of a majority."

White has been accused of living outside the school district by a group of Inkster citizens who have singled him out as well as Rucker, Fred Shockley and Williams for recall.

Attorney John MacDonald offered the board several documents last week that reportedly proved that White lived at 27150 Lehigh, which is in the city of Inkster, but outside of the school district.

White contends that he resides at 3837 Williams.

Is there a vacancy on the Inkster school board or isn't there one?

According to Supt. Hegeman and school board president Charles White there is no vacancy. And White is ready to fight the issue of his residency in the courts to prove it.

Last week the school board voted "to post for the vacancy on the school board" after hearing MacDonald who offered evidence that White doesn't live in the school district.

The board vote triggered a controversy which may be left up to the courts to resolve.

White says he indeed resides at the Williams address and will fight any board attempt to oust him from office.

VB soccer clinic

A Michigan Soccer Association coaching clinic will be held on Feb. 23, 26 and March 1, 5, 8, and 12 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Van Buren Township's South Junior High School.

Basic skills, team organization, and coaching methodology are only a few of the areas that will be covered in this 18 hour course taught by Wayne Pirmann.

Pirmann has an extensive playing and coaching soccer background, both on the professional and non-professional level, and is currently the head coach of the Michigan Soccer Association.

The cost for the clinic is $20. Those interested in attending should call Ed Dubin at 699-1026.

Also, a parent soccer registration meeting is being held at the Van Buren Township Hall on Thurs., Feb. 4 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Parents may register their children (girls and boys ages 5 to 19) for the spring soccer season, elect officials to the Van Buren Township Soccer Association, and offer ideas to improve the township soccer at this meeting.

In addition, interested

He has been a member of the board for the past seven years.

Supt. Hegeman said that "although the board did, in fact, vote 4-2 to post the position but, if I may use a cliché, what has happened is the cart has been placed before the horse."

Supt. Hegeman explained that "the board can't declare that a seat is vacant. The seat is declared vacant automatically under certain conditions—and one of those conditions is residency. The incumbent must reside in the school district."

"I think it will be up to the courts to decide this issue," Hegeman concluded.

County commissioners $1,500 pay raises become 'moot issue'

The $1500 pay raise for Wayne County non-judicial elected officials was described as "a moot issue" during a meeting of the Ways and Means Committee of the County Board of Commissioners last week, but one commissioner has already paid the first installment of $50 on the entire amount which he has promised to return.

In a meeting on Jan. 28, the committee removed from its agenda a proposal from Commissioner George F. Killen to delete from the budget the funds necessary to provide the increase effective Jan. 1 after authorization a year ago by the County Officers' Compensation Commission.

County Corporation Counsel George H. Cross said that it is past the deadline for changing that aspect of the budget, and that the County Auditors will continue to pay the raise as long as money is available.

Because the decision of the Compensation Commission is enforced by state statute, the Auditors are obligated to pay the raise to the elected office, if not the office holder, Cross noted.

Cross pointed out also, that the salaries of county elected officials cannot be increased nor decreased during any term in which they are serving. Also, said Cross, the Federal Internal Revenue Service will collect full tax on a pay rate due a particular office, regardless of whether the office holder chooses to return the money to the treasury.

In addition, Cross advised, any office holder denied the raise by withdrawal of funds could sue the County and force the Treasurer to pay.

Despite the taxing consideration, Commissioner Paul G. Citkowski did return the first $50 he has received. "I said when the raise was granted I could not accept it in good conscience, and that is my feeling now. As soon as the money comes to me, it goes right back," Citkowski declared.

Last week Citkowski walked up to the cashier's window of the Treasurer's office and presented the $50 check to cashier Don Costa for deposit. To satisfy legal technicalities, Citkowski must first accept the money, then return it, a round-about approach caused by conditions of the statute.

As a member of the County Board of Labor Relations which negotiates all union contracts for the County, Citkowski pointed out that the Labor Board last year was ordered by the Board of Commissioners to grant no increases to general employees.

"That put me in a position of having to deny raises for others, yet being eligible to accept a raise others granted to me," said Citkowski. "In mind, that is an untenable position which disturbs my conscience."

Noting that the Ways and Means Committee consists of all 27 members of the Board of Commissioners, Citkowski said he regards it unlikely that the raise issue would be reconsidered.

"I don't believe that there are enough votes or policy options available to change the situation, and that is why I'm offering to return the money on my own. I would like the Board to act this way as a group, but since they choose not to, I can certainly act on my own."

Romulus High students pick their 'Teacher of the Year'

Top teacher

Romulus High's "Top Teacher", Robert Cole, receives a certificate of appreciation from Student Council president Maria Adams and congratulations from John Easley, President of the National Honor Society. Students at the high school voted Cole, a biology teacher, their pick as "Teacher of the Year", a tribute awarded during "Teacher Appreciation Week."

Students at Romulus Senior High figured they would try something new during "Teacher Appreciation Week" this year.

So, when the Student Council and the National Honor Society came up with the idea of selecting a "Teacher of the Year" they went along.

But there was one problem—there were many teachers who were deserving of the honor.

"You know a lot of folks think we kids don't really appreciate school and our teachers," one student said, "but those who don't really care are in the very small minority."

"Schools and teachers are great—and, without them we would be in trouble. And I mean really in trouble."

Maria Adams, Student Council President, pointed out that singling out a teacher would "sort of be symbolic of what we really feel—that we do care about our schools and teachers."

"I thought we would do something for the teachers of Romulus High who have given us academic support throughout the years. I was pleased also with the results of the week. And I hope this will become a tradition in the years to follow."

John Easley, Honor Society president, commented that he was "very surprised to receive all of the positive reaction from the teachers and the students. I feel this should become an annual affair."

And, who was the recipient of the honor bestowed by the students?

The envelope, please.

He's Robert Cole, who has been teaching at the high school for nine years.

Cole graduated from Eastern Michigan University where he was awarded his masters degree in biology. He teaches advanced Biology and plant science.

Students also named four other teachers as "runners-up" for the honor. That list includes: Henry James (band teacher), Zane Kuryliw (English teacher), Robert Beauchamp (computer science) and Wayne Schimming (English and wrestling coach).

Good news!

State's gas cost rise is lowest since 1976

Motorists in Michigan received a break from double-digit gasoline price hikes in 1981 as the average cost of full-serve unleaded along main state roads rose 8 cents per gallon compared with 14.1 cents in 1980 and 36.3 cents in 1979, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The 1981 price increase was 5.8 percent, the second lowest annual percentage increase since Auto Club began keeping records in 1973," stated James Drury, Auto Club Travel Operations manager.

Nationally, unleaded gasoline prices rose 9.2 percent last year."

Michigan's lowest percentage increase was in 1976 when the cost rose 3 percent. The highest increase was in 1979 when it jumped more than 47 percent.

Auto Club's weekly "fuel gauge" surveys showed that from January through December 1981, the average cost of unleaded full-serve gas rose to $1.452 per gallon along main highways. Detroit-area full-serve unleaded rose 9.7 cents per gallon, or 7 percent, to an average $1.468 per gallon.

The average cost of regular rose 7.2 cents, or 5.4 percent, to $1.396 per gallon along main highways, and 8.5 cents, or 6.4 percent, to an average $1.404 per gallon in the Detroit area.

The average cost of unleaded along main highways rose 13 cents from January through March to a record $1.502 per gallon. From April through December, average costs fell for all grades each month except in November when they either were unchanged or slightly higher.

Drury cited three major reasons for 1981's price trend: the continuing drop in demand for gasoline; abundant gasoline supplies, and stabilized crude oil prices.

Through November, 1981 gasoline consumption in Michigan was down 6 percent compared with the first 11 months of 1980 although miles traveled in the state rose 1 percent. Gasoline use in Michigan has fallen 17 percent in the last two years.

The largest monthly price increases for most gasoline grades ever recorded by Auto Club came in February. The average cost of full-serve regular rose 7.8 cents per gallon on main highways and 8.1 cents per gallon in the Detroit area. Full-serve unleaded rose an average 8 cents per gallon in Detroit. The exception was unleaded along main highways, which rose 7.2 cents, exceeded only by a 7.7-cent jump in February 1980.

Self-serve unleaded gasoline rose 4.8 cents, or 3.6 percent, to an average $1.375 per gallon along main highways, and rose 2.5 cents, or 1.9 percent, to $1.335 in Metropolitan Detroit.

Doctor on Call

Goodbye, Arthur

Editor's Note: Dr. Ernest Sorini is chief of Emergency Room Services at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. He served his internship and residency at the University of Utah Medical Center and has been in emergency medicine for five years. If you have health questions for Dr. Sorini, contact him care of Associated Newspapers Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184.

Before I go a minute farther
Let me tell you all of Arthur
And your intellect enlighten
And your data base "en-heighten".
Though Arthur is a friendly guy
he's the one I would deny
Access to my varied joints
Where his cruel finger points.
Too many citizens of nations
He brings woeful inflammations.
He hangs around a joint or two
And makes you feel like you've the flu —
But he keeps coming back again
And makes it even more than plain
Your joints he will not fain eschew
While you try to them renew
With aspirin and anodynes
By following the drugstore signs,
To deter his occupation of crippling and of inflammation
To throw him out we've tried all potions.
Pills and rubs and fancy lotions —
But the one that's apt to win
Is good, old-fashioned aspirin.
It's ACETYL SA-LI-CYL-ATE
Take it and you'll remonstrate
When he tries to steal your sleep
Your joints won't make the slightest peep.
If put to rest with Anacin,
Bayer (or some such medicine)
Arthur's welcome runs out quick
Aspirin works "really slick"
To his family's tricks delete (Auntie Rheumatoid across the street) and Lupus with her joints inflamed
(Arthur can there too be blamed)
But once again I remonstate
Zap it with salicylate
For there's a no more mighty drug
For fighting such a common thug
Aspirin can and will delight us
By knocking out our Arthur-Itus.

Swaney ESU honoree

Carol A. Swaney from 48821 Denton Rd. in Belleville, was one of 425 students named to honor rolls at Emporia State University for fall semester 1981, according to John Visser, E-State president Swaney, a sophomore at E-State, was named to the President's honor roll.

In all, 149 Emporia State students were named to the President's list and 276 were named to the Dean's list.

Students named to the President's Honor Roll received a perfect 4.0 grade point average for the semester's work of at least 12 graded hours. Grade point average requirements for the Dean's list vary to include 10 per cent of each class for the semester's work of at least 12 graded hours: seniors — 3.77-3.99; junior — 3.79-3.99; sophomores — 3.69-3.99; and freshmen — 3.40-3.99.

County precinct
delegate deadline set

Delegates to the County Convention (Precinct Delegates) for both the Democratic and Republican Parties will be elected at the State Primary to be held August 3, 1982 Wayne County Clerk James R. Killeen announced.

Both Clerk Killeen and John Sabo, President of the Wayne County Municipal and Township Clerks' Association, caution prospective precinct delegate candidates not to circulate nominating petitions prematurely.

Killeen and Sabo point out that mandated apportioning of congressional and state legislative lines must be finalized before precinct boundaries can be firmly established.

Candidates for precinct delegate must be qualified registered electors residing in the precinct they wish to represent and obtain signatures of at least 15 registered electors from that precinct in order to have their name placed on the ballot.

To qualify to be a registered elector, a person must be a United States citizen, 18 years of age, and a resident of the state and community for 30 days.

Filing deadline for such candidates is 4 p.m., May 25, 1982 in the Office of the County Clerk, 207 City-County Building, Detroit, Michigan.

A little help

The Tonquish District of the Detroit Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, and the Huron Valley Council, Girl Scouts of America, were on the receiving ends of donations last week from the Wayne Rotary

Lech is elected SACC president

Ray Lech, executive vice-president and director of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, has been elected president of the West Suburban Area Council of Chambers.

Also selected for one-year terms of office during the council's annual meeting were Beverly Hoisington of Plymouth, vice-president; Margaret Halava of Farmington, recording secretary; and Joyce Wheeler of Westland, corresponding secretary.

Lech and his wife, Mary, are the parents of 11 children and reside in Livonia. The full-time chamber director also serves as vice-president of the Wayne County Private Industry Corp., an organization which administers CETA funds for the county.

The West Suburban Council is composed of chambers representing Belleville, Canton Township, Farmington, Livonia, Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Redford Township, Romulus, Wayne and Westland. Former presidents of the organization include Frank McMurray of Canton, Frank Hand of Livonia and David Willett, publisher of The Associated Newspapers, based in Wayne.

A unanimous vote of the Wayne-Westland Board of Education Monday night has cleared the way for work on a proposed K-14 designation for the school district.

The board, with Trustee Donald Rusnock absent, approved a five-point resolution, which directs the district's administration to survey the communities to ascertain interest and support for the formation of a two-year community college.

The concept was proposed by School Superintendent Dr. Timothy Dyer late last year to further utilize the district's new vocational-technical center and to guarantee a source of state funding for its adult-community education program, the third largest in the state.

According to Dr. Dennis O'Neill, deputy superintendent for instruction, four public hearings will be conducted in late February and early March to garner public opinion on the proposal and to explain plans to district residents.

As it now stands, the community college would offer an associate's degree program, with a primary emphasis on vocational education. Tuition costs, ranging from $23 to $25 per credit hour, would help generate funds for the college, which would also be supported by one mill of the district's tax levy.

Wayne-Westland officials stress that one mill does not represent an increase in taxes for the district, but rather the shifting of one mill from the K-12 program to the community college. The K-12 program would not be shortchanged by the shift, since the college would be billed for services provided and facilities used.

"We feel we can deliver the (community college) program with no building costs and no duplication of services," Dr. O'Neill explained.

School district administrators would hold dual titles for the district and college, and teaching would be part-time, as done with the district's highly successful adult-community education program.

According to O'Neill, the district believes it can deliver such an educational package locally "with no problems." In fact, John Glenn High School, adjacent to the Ford Vocational-Technical Center, will be incorporated into the campus, so that classes in secretarial and clerical fields can be offered.

The community college concept has drawn criticism from both Wayne County Community College (WC3) and the Michigan Community College Association. Both maintain that the creation of yet another community college in light of problems with state aid is unnecessary.

O'Neill, however, said the arguments levied at the proposal "are the same arguments used against WC3." School officials aren't surprised by the opposition, and O'Neill terms it as "not wanting a new kid on the block."

The district will survey its member communities to ascertain their interest, support and attitude about the formation of the college, as well as survey students at its two high schools about their willingness to attend the college.

An advisory committee, made up of business, labor and industry persons, also will be formed to study the feasibility of the college and assist in planning a program for the community college.

If all goes according to plans, the district will bring a final recommendation to the board by June 1, a recommendation that officials hope will tell the board to apply to the State Board of Education for the K-14 designation.

O'Neill said officials anticipate state action on the request by summer's end, leaving the district one year in which to come up with the college's curriculum before opening its doors in September 1983.

That, however, is contingent upon state approval.

District officials are convinced that the college would not be a duplication of what is offered by WC3 or Schoolcraft Community College, two of its chief competitors for students. In fact, according to O'Neill, there is a waiting list for the culinary arts program at Schoolcraft, and the same is true of the secretarial-clerical programs.

For now, though, the district will be taking it one step at a time, preparing for the public's reaction at the first of the four hearings, scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 16, at Marshall Junior High School. The remaining three meetings will be on Tuesday, March 9 at Stevenson Junior High School, Wednesday, March 10, at Adams Junior High School, and Thursday, March 11, at Franklin Junior High School.

Road patrols to resume at Metro

Road Patrols will resume at Metropolitan Airport and along secondary roads February 8th, Samuel A. Turner, Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, said today.

County Road Commissioners are expected to send a letter to Sheriff William Lucas Tuesday advising him of the expected startup.

According to James Bishop, county Labor Relations Director, two Sergeants and fifteen patrolmen will be hired to police secondary roads and parks and another five Sergeants, fifteen patrolmen and one civilian clerk will return to duties at the Metropolitan Airport in Romulus.

FINAL DAYS!

What a break for you! . . . and just in time to fancy up your home for the holidays. Fantastic buys for every room in the house. Some great gift ideas, too!

Schick, Schieda in delayed enlistment program

Thomas C. Schick, 20, son of Frank and Judith Schick, 34717 Michelle Dr., Romulus, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Staff Sergeant Bernie Schmidt, the Air Force recruiter here, Schick will commence four years active duty on July 26, undergoing six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

The Air Force has guaranteed that Schick, a 1979 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, will then receive Fire Protection Specialist training, and upon completion be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

David P. Renke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Renke of 37627 Wabash, Romulus, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of first lieutenant.

Renke is pilot with the 38th Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron at Osan Air Base, South Korea.

He is a 1979 graduate of Michigan State University at East Lansing.

Marine Lance Cpl. Michael J. Allison, son of Richard M. and Julia F. Allison of 9890 Hamilton, Belleville, has completed the Basic Avionics ("aviation electronics") Technician Course.

During the self-paced course at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Millington, Tenn., the students received instruction on the fundamentals of electronic circuitry and were introduced to the wide variety of electronic equipment items currently installed aboard Navy and Marine Corps Aircraft. They studied airborne radar, communication and computer equipment, plus the technical manuals, safety precautions and troubleshooting procedures used for maintaining each.

Navy Seaman Recruit Lloyd J. Bieszk, son of Lloyd and Phyllis C. Bieszk of 43247 Fret Road, Belleville, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, Fla.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

Marine Cpl. Jeffrey S. Ashford, son of Howard E. Ashford of 20551 Sumpter Road, Belleville, and Virgie A. Batt of 1421 S. Walton, Westland, Mich., has been promoted to his present rank while serving with Headquarters Battalion, 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Pvt. Lowell C. Clark, son of Jeanne A. Clark of 126 Montague, Belleville, has completed a tracked-vehicle mechanic course at the U.S. Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky.

During the course, students were trained to repair engines, transmissions, and the fuel, electrical and air hydraulic systems of the Army's tracked-vehicles. They also learned to perform recovery operations for abandoned, damaged, disabled or mired vehicles.

Clark is a 1979 graduate of Belleville High School.

Joseph C. Schieda, 22, son of Susan Schieda, 15329 Meadow, Romulus, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Staff Sergeant Bernie Schmidt, the Air Force recruiter here, Schieda's entry into the DEP serves two purposes. First, it allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area.

Secondly, the DEP enables Schieda, a 1977 graduate of Romulus High School and 1981 graduate of Adrian College, to wrap up his personal affairs before leaving home.

Schieda will enter the Regular Air

Force on March 31. Following graduating from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training in the general aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Marine Cpl. Michael J. Schuster, son of Paul and Judith Schuster of 8038 Morton Taylor, Belleville, and whose wife, Shelly, is the daughter of James and Helen McCarty of 7885 Mida Drive, also of Belleville, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with the 7th Engineer Support Battalion, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

CITY OF ROMULUS CHAPTER IV ARTICLE 1.49

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND CHAPTER IV, ARTICLE I, OF THE OFFICIAL ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS.

WHEREAS: The City Council for the City of Romulus deems it to be in the best interest of the City and the citizens of the City of Romulus to amend Section 2.01 (ad), Section 2.01 (ag) and Section 10.02 b (5) of Chapter IV Article 1, of the Official Zoning Ordinance in order to better protect the health, safety, and welfare of the citizens of the City of Romulus.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

Section 1. Short Title. The City of Romulus amended Zoning Ordinance.

Section 2. That Chapter IV, Article 1, Section 2.01 (ad) shall be amended to read as follows:

DWELLING UNIT. A dwelling unit is any house or building or portion thereof having cooking facilities, which is occupied wholly as the home, residence or sleeping place of one (1) family, either permanently or transiently, but in no case shall a TRAVEL TRAILER, automobile chassis, OR tent be considered a dwelling. In case of mixed occupancy, where a building is occupied in part as a dwelling unit, the part so occupied shall be deemed a dwelling unit for the purpose of this ordinance and shall comply with the provisions thereof relative to dwellings.

Section 3. That Chapter IV, Article 1, Section 2.01 (ag) shall be amended to read as follows:

DWELLING, SINGLE FAMILY. A detached building, mobile home or pre-manufactured or pre-cut residential structure designed and used for the complete living accommodations of one (1) family. Such dwelling shall:

(1) Comply with the minimum square footage requirements of Section 19.01. Area, Height, and Placement Regulations;

(2) have a minimum width along any exterior side elevation of twenty-four (24) feet and a minimum floor to ceiling height of seven and one-half (7½) feet;

(3) be permanently attached to a solid foundation constructed on the site in accordance with the City Building Code with such foundations of an area not less than the perimeter of the dwelling and with attachments meeting the Federal Mobile Construction Act of 1974 and pertinent State regulations;

(4) have no exposed wheels, towing mechanisms, undercarriage or chassis;

(5) be connected to public sewer and water service or to private facilities approved by the local health department;

(6) contain a storage area(s), exclusive of space for storage of automobiles, located within a basement, closed areas, attic or a separate fully enclosed structure of standard construction equal to or of better quality than the principal dwelling, such storage area being not less than fifteen (15) percent of the interior living area of the dwelling;

(7) have no additions of rooms or other areas which are not constructed with similar materials, appearance, and quality of workmanship as the original structure, including foundation and permanent attachment to the principal structure;

(8) comply with the Federal Mobile Home Construction Act of 1974 and pertinent state statutes and regulations;

(9) be aesthetically compatible in design and appearance with conventional on-site constructed homes with:

- front and rear or front and side exterior doors, - permanently attached steps or porch where a difference in elevation requires

- a roof overhang of at least eight (8) inches, and - exterior window sills.

Section 4. That Chapter IV, Article 1, Section 10.02 b (5) shall be amended to read as follows:

Single Mobile Homes: Mobile homes located outside of authorized mobile home parks shall meet the requirements of a "Dwelling, Single Family" as defined.

Section 5. Severability. Should any section, clause or provision of this Ordinance be declared to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of this ordinance as a whole or any part thereof, other than the part so declared to be invalid.

Section 6. This Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon publication in a newspaper of general circulation.

Raymond Cantrell, Clerk City of Romulus

I, Raymond Cantrell, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an ordinance duly adopted by the Romulus City Council at their regular meeting held on the 12th day of January 1982.

Raymond Cantrell, Clerk City of Romulus

ATTEST: William M. Oakley, Mayor

Within forty-five (45) days after the publication of any ordinance duly adopted by the Council, a petition may be presented to the council protesting against such ordinance and shall be signed by not less than six (6%) percent of the registered electors registered at the last preceding election at which a Mayor of the City was elected. This Belleville family gets perfect college grades

By MARY BRASE
(Special to the Enterprise)

EDWARDSVILLE, ILL., — Cynthia Rudder is getting used to the blank stares she gets when people learn she lives with her family at Tower Lake Apartments, the student housing complex at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

SIUE is known as a commuter campus, and it is not that unusual for students to live with parents at home while attending classes.

"It's the second answer that gets them," Miss Rudder said. The 19-year-old sophomore in special education not only lives on the campus with her family, she goes to college with them. The results have been bargain prices and straight A's for all.

College on the family plan started a year ago when the Rudders' oldest child finished 12th grade and wanted to continue her education. Instead of sending Cynthia off to school like other parents, the Rudders decided to go to college with her.

Larry Rudder, her father, took a break from his traveling gospel ministry based in Granite City or Belleville, to earn a master's degree in marriage and family counseling. "It took me 13 years to get my bachelor's degree in history and government in 1970, but I wanted more training in psychology and counseling for the ministry," he said.

The family, including two younger brothers, lived out of a green van the last 10 years, moving their musical program of evangelism and devotional ministry to a new church each week. "We have always been a close family, but packed in that van, we had to be," Rudder said.

Jeanette Rudder, Cynthia's mother, is the pianist for the group and translates her husband's original songs to standard musical notes.

All three children, including Doug, 14, and John, 8, join in the singing and teaching.

Before the move to the Edwardsville campus, Mrs. Rudder had not been inside a classroom since she graduated first in her class of two at a mission school in Zaire (Belgian Congo), where her parents were missionaries. The lure of a psychology degree to improve the ministry team and the opportunity to add to her own security brought her back.

"Going to class" is also a new experience for Cynthia, who never attended a regular high school. While the family traveled, she earned her diploma through correspondence classes under the eye of her father, a certified teacher. Now, she never misses.

If the Rudders hoped to cut corners by trading papers or splitting homework, that part of the family plan has never worked out.

"We had one health class together," Mrs. Rudder said of her daughter, and it will probably be the only one. This fall, mother and daughter were both inducted into the Dean's College, the undergraduate honors program at SIUE. Admission allows students with 4.5 grade point averages or better to plan individualized programs with a teacher in their major field, bypassing the usual general studies requirements the two might have shared.

"Larry and I took one course together, but I received no credit," Mrs. Rudder, then a freshman, remembers. "It was a graduate course in marriage counseling, and the professor was afraid he would not have any couples in the daytime class. He needed examples," she said.

Acting the part of an ordinary student, Mrs. Rudder went to class and pretended to be angry with her husband whenever the teacher asked. "We would come back from break and start an argument. The other students didn't know, but they always sided with me," she explained.

Mrs. Rudder signs up for 12 hours of evening classes and saves time for studying during the day while the boys are in school. Her husband, who finished his master's this fall in what for him was the record time of one year, is in the specialist program and works as a graduate assistant. He gets the kitchen table at night after everyone is asleep.

"He also gets the supper dishes," Mrs. Rudder emphasized. The chore, that Rudder has drawn since his boyhood, has been turned into something more. "I wrote two songs while I was doing the dishes," he said.

Rudder has published other songs in a series of songbooks and recorded

College on the family plan

The Rudders — 19-year-old Cynthia and her parents, Jeanette and Larry — leave Tower Lake Apartments for classes at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The family, who hail from Belleville, goes to college and makes straight "A's" together.

Cong. Ford is seeking 'outstanding youth'

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) today announced his sixth annual Congressional Medal of Merit Awards program for Outstanding Youth in the 15th Congressional District.

Originally conducted in 1976 as part of the Bicentennial celebration, the awards program was so well received that the citizens committee (consisting of volunteers from each of the 21 communities in the 15th District) recommended that it be continued as an annual event.

"I believe this is an excellent way to honor some of our truly outstanding young people whose activities and accomplishments too often have gone unnoticed and unrewarded," Congressman Ford said.

Two awards will be available in each of the 21 communities in the Congressman's District. One will be for boys and girls aged 14 through 18, who are still seniors in high school, and the other for high school graduates aged 18 through 22. The medals will be personally presented by Congressman Ford in May.

Nomination forms are available from Congressman Ford's District Office in the Wayne Post Office Bldg., Wayne, Michigan, 48184 (722-1411). They can also be picked up from most City or Township Clerks' offices in the 15th Congressional District. The deadline for nominations is March 18, 1982.

The committee has decided to keep the same ground rules for the judging criteria which it has followed in past years, Congressman Ford explained. To qualify for consideration, the accomplishments of these young people should be outstanding and meaningful, and represent broad range of interests and activities. Accomplishments for which a nominee has received financial payment do not qualify.

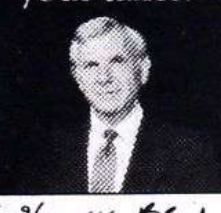

Recognizing that not all people serve as leaders, Congressman Ford added that consideration would also be given to nominees who have contributed time and effort toward meaningful projects, such as volunteer practices, heroic acts and humanitarian efforts.

Frank Weiss of Gibraltar will chair the Citizens Committee, and will also represent the City of Gibraltar. Others serving on the committee are:

Adolph Jedryozka - Ash Twp. & Carleton; Stella Adams - Belleville; Nick Galovich - Brownstown Twp.; Doug Ritter - Canton Twp.; William Dohan - Dearborn Hts.; Judy Artley - Flat Rock; Elva Ryall - Garden City; Helen Kowalski - Huron Twp. and Ernest Lyons - Inkster.

Al Prause - Romulus; Michael Hendin - Southgate; Girtha Folks - Sumpter Twp.; Wm. Greenslait - Taylor; Imogene Pence - Van Buren Twp.; Robert Beeny - Wayne; Anita Cobb - Westland and Gene Palmer - Woodhaven.

TRENCH MOUTH

Trench mouth (also known as Vincent's Infection) is an inflamed infection of the gums with the formation of ulcers. It is often accompanied by fever and a "bloch" feeling. The bacteria which cause the trench-mouth infection are found in the mouths of all of us — so anyone can get it under the right circumstances. These factors include the neglect of oral hygiene, lack of sleep, alcoholic excess, poor nutrition and stress. That is probably why so many of our soldiers had this disease during World War I, when it became known as "trench mouth."

In contrast to other types of gum disease which develop over a long period of time, in trench mouth, the gums become swollen, tender and sore suddenly. While the bacteria of trench mouth are always present in the mouth, infection takes place only when general resistance is lowered and oral hygiene is poor.

If the symptoms of trench mouth occur, see your dentist at once. The disease is helped by antibiotic treatment in its early stages, but the most effective treatment is thorough and repeated dental cleanings and home care.

To keep his hand in the ministry and help support his college family, Rudder also serves as a part-time pastor at a Bunker Hill church.

"It is over 100 years old and still has an outhouse, but it is helping us and we're helping them," he said. In between, the pastor changes to a substitute at the Granite City schools, teaching everything from kindergarten PE to pom pom club in high school.

The Rudders' biggest adjustment to college family life, particularly for Mrs. Rudder, came last fall when students returned to classes. "I had gone from the little extension classes in Granite City to summer school, but when I saw the hordes of students on the first day of fall quarter, I almost panicked," she said. After a quarter or so, you adjust, she said. "Now, when somebody looks lost, I just walk up and tell them where to find it."

When the family graduates, the Rudders may stay together to lead a seminar-type program for churches or concentrate on the counseling. "We don't know what the Lord has planned for us. We will face that when the time comes," Mrs. Rudder said.

Faust: 'Await court decision'

Seniors are urged to withhold Blue Cross' proposed hike

Michigan consumers have several options to paying a proposed Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan (BCBSM) rate hike, according to State Senator William Faust (D-Westland), the Senate Majority Leader.

The increase, which took effect on February 1, has not been approved by the State Insurance Bureau and is being challenged in court by the Attorney General. A court hearing was scheduled for Fri., Jan. 29.

The disputed increase has been billed to 458,000 non-group subscribers and will hit senior citizens receiving Medicare supplemental insurance coverage the hardest, raising their rates by almost 60%.

"The Attorney General's office and the Michigan Citizens Lobby, a consumer organization, are recommending that subscribers affected by the increase withhold their payment through a 'grace period' that extends until March 10th," said Faust.

"In a recent legal brief, Blue Cross said it will not discontinue any subscriber's coverage for nonpayment of the higher rates prior to March 10th."

"However, I urge anybody planning to delay their payment to mail it by March 3rd to ensure that it is received on time and avoid any possible loss of coverage," he said.

At issue is a recent rate hike announced by BCBSM for the Blue Shield portion of their coverage, dealing with medical and surgical services. BCBSM claims that a 1978 Supreme Court ruling allows them to raise the Blue Shield portion of their rates without Insurance Bureau approval. The Attorney General is fighting this claim in court, with a final decision likely to be announced before the 'grace period' expires on March 10th.

Senator Faust has co-sponsored legislation that would clear up this ambiguity by statutorily establishing the Insurance Bureau's authority to review all proposed BCBSM rate hikes. That bill, SB 637, is currently being studied in the Senate Commerce Committee.

The Attorney General has recommended that affected subscribers delay their payment through the 'grace period,' noting that the payment must be received by BCBSM by March 10th to avoid discontinuation of coverage.

The Citizens Lobby has urged its members to withhold the payment until the March 10th deadline. As another alternative, the consumers group recommended that its members continue to pay only the lower rates previously approved by the Insurance Commissioner.

BCBSM has informed the Insurance Bureau that subscribers will not lose their coverage if they pay their old rates while the issue is in the court. BCBSM has asked that such payments be sent to Ms. Virginia Benner, Regulatory Affairs 2106, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, 600 East Lafayette, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

The payment should be accompanied by a note indicating that the old rate is being paid based on the advice of the Michigan Citizens Lobby.

The State Insurance Commissioner, Nancy Baerwaldt, however, is recommending that consumers pay the increased bills on time and wait to receive a credit if the rate hike is eventually overturned by the courts.

Faust said additional information can be obtained from the Attorney General's office by calling 517/373-1110, the Insurance Bureau at 517/373-0220 and the Michigan Citizens Lobby at 313/356-1250 or 517/372-7111.

Our Opinions

Mr. White should consider resigning

It is regrettable that when all school districts are pinching pennies and trying to save dollars in order to survive, it appears that Inkster tax dollars will have to be used to settle an issue in court of residency by one of the members of its school board.

Charles E. White, president of the school board, has been challenged by a group who is out to oust him because of his residency. The group contends that Mr. White lives outside the school district — and has hired attorney John MacDonald to present their case.

MacDonald offered certain documents including car registrations purportedly showing that Mr. White indeed resides on a street that, although located in Inkster is, however, outside the school district's boundary.

Mr. White showed up last week at the school board meeting and argued that the complaints against him are political, that the group had unsuccessfully tried to recall him on an earlier occasion, and that he feels "this small minority" isn't representative of the majority who support him on the board.

There certainly is, however, enough proof to raise some doubts about Mr. White's residency. And when an elected official stirs up so much controversy, we wonder about his effectiveness as an official.

We believe that even if Mr. White did reside in the school district he has lost a "workable relationship" with other members of the board who recently voted 4-2 to "to post for the vacancy."

The school board is presently accepting applications from potential candidates in case the courts rule that Mr. White should vacate the seat.

In the meantime, the extraordinary conditions caused by the furor can't but hamper the process of conducting school business.

Mr. White may argue successfully in the courts that he does live in the Inkster School District, but we have to wonder who will benefit from all of this controversy.

Surely not the children in the school district.

Where did all this snow come from?

It is rare indeed that the weather should capture the spotlight and the headlines for four consecutive weekends.

But that's what has happened during this winter of 1982, a rare winter indeed. Even the oldest amongst us can't remember when nature has dealt us a more severe or deadly blow.

And our tolerance for the fluffy white stuff appears to be decreasing with each and every drop.

However, for good or for bad, the adage about everybody complaining and nobody doing anything about the weather may not be true, according to recent debate in the U.S. Congress.

According to dialogue, we shouldn't blame Mother Nature for our headaches, but the Soviets. Apparently the Soviets are experimenting on weather control and regulation. Now, how else could one explain these "Siberian winter days?"

If we can seed clouds to cause rain, why can't the Soviets send us their cold via waves? It may sound like a far-fetched science fiction story, but at least one U.S. Senator has introduced legislation to ask for a world-wide ban on "the deadly war of the elements."

In the meantime, would someone please turn up the heat?

We feel we all have had enough of this so-called temporary inconvenience called winter.

The Hillenbrand Report

(EDITOR'S NOTE - This is the second in a two part series that initially appeared in the Jan. 27-28 issue of the Associated Newspapers.)

Among the most interesting shared service agreement is a new law enforcement project sponsored by a Texas county, an Arkansas county and the cities of Texarkana, Texas and Texarkana, Ark. The jurisdictions are constructing a jail on the state line. "If we can straighten out legal problems involved in operating an integrated jail system, we can get together in other areas," said Judge Edward Miller of Bowie County, Texas.

And in Bernalillo (Albuquerque), N.M., city and county are constructing a joint government building, where proximity may usher in cooperation.

County official Alex Abeyon says there's no interest in formal consolidation, a move the voters turned down resoundingly in 1973. "Feelings haven't changed," he says.

Indeed, reorganization politics may create divisiveness where none existed before, and bring out animosity long simmering in community relations.

"From inside government I see a desperate need for consolidation of services," says Hamilton County (Chattanooga), Tenn., attorney Mike Mahn, who is working on behalf of the county to establish a charter commission.

"Chattanooga is trying to put together a downtown. Economic development alone requires cooperation from city and county. Why, we have 11 police departments," he said.

The current effort has the support of the Chamber of Commerce and the mayor.

Two previous referendum failed. "There was great concern about potential consolidation of school systems," he explains. Both districts operate under court-ordered busing. But resistance to consolidation stems from more than racial differences. City-county consolidation seems to bring out class battles between urban poor and a suburban middle class that has fled the cities.

Rural residents are often opposed to government reorganization because they fear they will not get a "fair shake," or equal representation, as county officials in Daviess County (Owensboro), Ky., and Bibb County (Macon), Ga. told me.

Kenton County (Covington), Ky., recently ended an emotional consolidation drive that "drew battle lines between city and suburbs," according to John Nienaber, Jr., county director of administration. "Metropolitan government was perceived to mean loss of identity for our small cities. Suburbanites considered it the same as city government, with higher taxes and inefficiency. There is no interest in repeating a consolidation effort because recent wounds haven't healed," he said.

"Consolidation would have meant more clout in the state legislature," Nienaber said. "Power of 21 cities would have been concentrated in one board of supervisors." An elected executive would have had more influence with the governor than the mayor of a city of 5,000. "These days," Nienaber said, "state officials say we can't agree about anything."

Such infighting can wrack permanent damage to local government. In Pensacola, Fla., an Escambia County official told me reorganization drives aroused such bitter dispute, they hurt any subsequent effort to modernize.

Regions that have experienced such trauma — that have sought change so many times to no avail — are unlikely to do so again no matter how dire the economy.

It's not a game — anymore.

Ice age cometh?

Guest Editorial

Do we need another community college in area?

Editor — Well, are we going to let history repeat itself? Are we going to sit back and let our elected officials lead us down their chosen path and hope it doesn't lead us over a cliff?

The Wayne-Westland School Board is considering a community college. They, of course, want our opinions first, and administration is assuring us it won't cost us a thing. Of course the administration and board has always been completely honest with the taxpayers in the past!!!

Remember when we were asked to approve the last bond issue? We were told it was needed to provide a vocational education center and much needed "repairs to existing buildings."

We passed that bond issue. But, were we told that it would generate enough monies to provide the district with a beautiful new administration building?

I don't remember that on the ballot. Nor the indoor track at Wayne Memorial. How about the new gyms, locker rooms, weight lifting room, and new fine arts wing at John Glenn? Where did that money come from?

The board and administration asked us to approve a bond issue for certain purposes that we felt were needed. Little did we know that it would provide enough money for these luxurious and extravagant "repairs to existing" buildings.

Remember last year when we were introduced to dual tax collection? We were forced to pay our taxes early in order to save the school district from paying interest on borrowing money. Of course it didn't occur to our school board that many of us couldn't afford to pay in advance. They didn't care that many of us would have to borrow that money. They didn't care that many of us would have to fight mortgage companies that threatened us with foreclosures and/or increased house payments.

Last year the school board asked us to renew a 32 mill millage. We were told it was needed in order to prevent teacher layoffs and program cuts to our children. (Now, they tell us that it included enough money to run a complete community college.)

Well, the school board is still looking out for our interest. Now, they are going to ask us to support a second community college. We are already helping to support the Wayne County Community college, and will have to continue to do so in the future.

But, now we are told that the Wayne County Community College isn't good enough for Wayne and Westland. Now we need our own college. And we are told that it won't cost us anything extra.

They already built the facilities with our bond money, and are already in control of enough funds because of the over generous millage we approved. They also tell us that they won't have to hire any more personnel. They are already carrying enough college professors and staff to run a complete community college. They also tell us that we have enough administration already.

They didn't explain however, why they already have enough personnel and administration. They didn't explain why they already have enough money. Have we been tricked into providing all the services of a community college, and then being asked to continue?

During the January 25th board meeting we were told that the K-14 rating is only under consideration. The board is studying it with an open mind. Bull!

At that same time they passed a five part resolution. The first four parts deal with surveying the community, and studying the feasibility of supporting the second college. But — the fifth part gives the administration permission to go ahead with the "preparing of the appropriate documents necessary to petition the state."

If steps one through four are even going to be considered, then why was it necessary to include part five? It appears that steps 1-4 aren't important because they are going to do step 5 regardless.

Our school board and administration seem to feel that our tax dollars are endless. Last year the board gave administration generous raises. This year they gave the teachers one — six months before the contract was even an issue. Do you know the reasons they gave? One: the teachers might ask for more if they waited; and Two: Mrs. Arbour's brother works for Edison and makes over $30,000 a year. (How can you argue such valid reasoning?)

I have been attending these regular board meetings. I have only begun to tell you of the irresponsible way our elected officials have been carrying out their duties. I promise a second letter will soon follow with more on this subject.

But this situation is critical. Unless we stand together and stop this proposal, we are going to be supporting TWO community colleges. The Federal government is cutting aid to colleges. The state is cutting aid to colleges. Wayne County Community College is worried about financial survival. But — the rich citizens of Wayne and Westland are being told they can afford to support both these colleges.

Many of us are laid-off, and on fixed incomes. Those of us who are working are being asked to make wage concessions. But the board continues to play "GIVE AWAY" with our money. Are you going to sit back and let it happen? If the board feels this is something we want and need let them put it on a ballot and let us decide. There is no rush.

We have got to quit being so gullible. We have got to demand that these seven people who sit upon their thrones every other week start to represent the people who put them there. Attend these public hearings and meetings. Let your opinions be known. Insist these seven people start to stand up for the community.

There has been talk of a recall. Never before have any seven people deserved it more. I don't know how else to stop them, they don't intend to stop themselves. If any of you have taken out petitions — show me where to sign.

Why all this flack about Dept. of Aging?

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

There is a camaraderie among those who are fortunate enough to make it to their senior years that instills the feeling of "oneness" about it.

Yes, as we grow older we continue to have our prejudices and may, be narrow-minded when others don't think the way we would like them to think.

And there seems to be a letterwriter in this area who has an inexplicable "hate campaign" going on against the Westland Department on Aging. In letters printed and published here in this newspaper, the letterwriter continues to vehemently criticize the department and has singled out one of the department's directors, Sylvia Kozorosky, as the prime object of the criticism. At this point, the department has been unsuccessful in getting the letterwriter to appear in person and discuss her objections to the department. That is indeed unfortunate.

When you consider the accomplishments over the years of the Westland Department of Aging and its deputy director one can't understand, to use a cliché, "where the letterwriter is coming from."

If she had been following these pages she would have known that Mrs. Kozorosky was one of 16 delegates appointed by Gov. Milliken to attend a White House Conference on the aging. And invitations to the White House don't come easy. After more than half of a century, I'm still waiting for my first one.

Mrs. Kozorosky is a member of the National Council on Aging, the Michigan Society of Gerontology, the Council for Action on Aging and many, many other key groups trying to help solve the myriad problems confronted by the aging in our community and nation.

The letterwriter offers many credentials about her experience with the aging, however, one close look and we discover that many of those organizations she says she works or is affiliated with don't exist.

Then why defame a person and an organization whose only purpose is to do good?

True, the Westland group like other community commissions that have been set up to help seniors, may not have accomplished all they have set out to do, but with an ailing economy and with most municipalities making drastic cuts to make ends meet, that is understandable.

Our letter box is loaded with letters from area readers each week and we attempt to publish them without censorship. However, maybe the time has come when we should demand more facts—proof—from the reader.

There is a saying that goes, "I may not agree with what you have to say, but I will defend with my life the right for you to say it."

And, I will defend your right to say it — as long as you don't abuse the press.

On switching political parties

EDITOR — The recent article about Van Buren trustee Tim Toohey switching political parties has prompted this reply to shed some light on the incident.

Permit me to make some statements based on the facts as I know them, both as one who worked very hard to help Tim Toohey get elected and as Secretary of the Belleville Area Republican Club.

1. Tim Toohey, according to our records, attended only the first "Organizational Meeting" of the Belleville Area Republican Club back in September. (He also attended the public forum meeting the club sponsored to discuss the appointment of Richard Debs as Police Commander, however, there was no other business discussed that evening.)

2. At the first meeting, which he attended, our records indicate a discussion was held with regard to the importance of electing precinct delegates, due to their importance in building a base for the party as well as their importance to the politics within the party itself. There was NEVER such a covert discussion as suggested by Tim Toohey in one news article.

3. Our President, Jerry McKelvey, is not spearheading the Recall effort, nor is our club initiating that action.

4. Ron Yurchak is leading the recall, and while he is a member of our club, he does not hold an office.

The above data is based on our records and my personal knowledge of what has transpired at the meetings of the Belleville Area Republican Club. To that, let me add a personal comment.

I am very disappointed in Mr. Toohey's decision to quit the local area GOP Club and to change parties.

I feel he is letting a little power blind him to his true convictions as he expressed them before and during the election.

I and others, worked very hard together during the campaign - getting him elected. His goals were the same as ours - the good of the people.

I don't believe our goals have changed - the welfare of the community is still foremost in our minds and objectives.

Perhaps, what has changed is Tim

Toohey's perspective and his principles as we understood them.

Perhaps, if these hadn't changed, there would not currently be an effort underway to recall Tim Toohey.

I personally feel that all my efforts in helping him get elected were IN VAIN.

Property tax relief's reality

EDITOR — On January 26, 1982, I received the enclosed copy of a letter from Governor Milliken to State Representative Stabenow concerning his reason for vetoing House Bill 4250, the front loading and improvement of the existing circuit breaker state property tax rebate program.

The need for property tax relief is still a reality. I hope the Senate will pass my legislation, House Bill 5070, and that the Governor will sign it, as it addresses the real problem in property taxing in Michigan — the Inflation Controlled S.E.V.

Thomas H. Brown
State Representative
37th District

The Honorable Debbie Stabenow
Michigan House of Representatives
State Capitol
Lansing, Michigan 48909

Thank you for your letter of support for House Bill 4250 which was signed by you and a number of your colleagues in the House and Senate.

As you are aware from our telephone conversation, I am convinced that Michigan, now and in the foreseeable future, cannot afford even the modest proposal embraced in the measure you sponsored. The second wave of back-to-back national recessions is undercutting our most conservative revenue expectations and additional uncertainties are posed by pending budget reductions at the federal level.

Clearly, further reductions in the state budget will jeopardize our ability to continue high standards of public service in many essential programs. Conceivably, it would mean taking away from programs serving many persons to find additional relief for a perhaps smaller group of Michigan residents.

As a result, I decided the wisest course at this time is to move ahead on the bills establishing "truth in taxation" (SB350) and "truth in assessing" (HB 5044, which I have signed into law), and to support adoption of a front-loading measure as long as the state is not assessed a heavy interest cost on behalf of local units of government. But until we see our way out of the state's deepening fiscal crisis, and the uncertainties of federal budget cuts, I do not believe we can responsibly propose any property tax relief plan. It will be an unpleasant message to deliver to the voters and taxpayers, but I am convinced they are already beginning to understand the impact of the recession on state programs and that we have reached the point where further cuts in state programs could risk seriously damaging the best interests of many thousands of state residents.

I appreciate the time and care you put into the development of this measure and only regret that it did not arrive amid more fortuitous economic circumstances. Please share my concern with the cosponsors of your letter.

Price of scout cars negotiable

EDITOR — I believe it is time Van Buren residents hear about the police cars the Township Board purchased from Wayne County from someone other than the 'recall committee'.

We were under the impression that the price of the cars might be negotiable, however, the publicity from this 'committee' has ruined any chance of negotiations.

Even though we now have no hope of negotiating on the price, we always knew that the price of $19,740 was more than fair. These five cars are in excellent condition, were fully equipped with radar and radios and all had low mileage.

When the Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol was pulled out of Van Buren, we had to provide 24-hour police protection. We did this by rearranging schedules and utilizing police reserves.

However, we could not provide 24 hour a day, seven day a week protection without added cars. The police cars that were in use all had high mileage, were in need of constant repair and were in general unreliable.

Even without the increase to 24 hour service, the Township would have had to provide for the purchase of new cars in next year's budget. The purchase of two new, well-equipped cars would have cost close to the amount we paid for all five cars.

I believe the members of the recall committee should be aware that a police department requires reliable equipment.

Cheap energy is on the way

EDITOR — In this winter of confusion and despair there may be a bright light shining up ahead. It's a light of cheap energy and fuel. Something that may heat and light our homes and fuel our cars more cheaply than ever before and there's no end to the supply.

The hope lies in nuclear fusion. Fusion has almost no radioactivity, almost no waste, there is no danger of a "runaway" reactor, the fuel is unlimited, and cheap power plants can be built wherever needed.

Research has been underway at KMS Fusion, Inc., Ann Arbor for more than ten years. KMS first produced controlled fusion in 1974 and that reaction yielded ten thousands neutrons, a measure of successful fusion.

By 1979 KMS had reached ten billion neutrons, but ten to the fifteenth power (1 followed by 15 zeros) neutrons must be reached to achieve the breakeven point. Breakeven means the energy put into operating the fusion lasers is equaled by the energy produced by fusion.

When 1 followed by 19 zeros neutrons is reached commercial production of power is possible.

Currently KMS and the Lawrence Livermore Laboratories in California are using lasers arranged in a circle with their rays focused at the center. Into the center a small glass ball containing heavy hydrogen (deuterium and tritium) is placed and all lasers are fired at once.

The hydrogen is fused to form helium with the release of heat energy and high energy neutrons. The heat energy will be used to generate electricity. However the neutrons are also important. They will be directed into hydrogen chloride, an inexpensive and common chemical, causing it to dissociate into common hydrogen and chlorine. The hydrogen can be reacted with carbon dioxide to yield methane and water. Since natural gas is 80 per cent methane it is ready to burn without any furnace adjustments and methane has been used in gasoline engines for years by changing the carburetor.

The chlorine when reacted with steam produces more hydrogen chloride. Thus we have both electricity and fuel from fusion.

So what are the problems? Higher powered lasers are needed but higher power burns up the mirrors that are a necessary part of the laser. Thus they are limited to a single pulse when 10 to 20 pulses per second are needed for commercial production of power and fuel. Presently the heavy hydrogen must be confined in tiny glass spheres less than a human hair in diameter. These are difficult to make. KMS first produced them which they now export worldwide to experimental laboratories.

More than anything funds are needed for research. The government grants of the past may be ended and so will research.

Government experts have said the year 2025 may see the first commercial controlled fusion power plant. KMS says they could have a pilot plant running by 1995 if they had the funding.

So who else is at it? The Russians of course. In fact the Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory at Princeton University is using another method employing a USSR invented magnetic bottle called a Tokamak. It is a donut shaped unit wrapped with coils to make it an electromagnet. The heavy hydrogen is put inside and when a huge current is passed through the coils the hydrogen is compressed so greatly it fuses into helium with the yield of heat energy and neutrons. Some scientists believe the Tokamak will be more successful than lasers.

Another method is being employed called mirror effect compression which also uses magnetic fields.

Whoever is finally successful will have the most fantastic control of energy and fuel production the world could ever imagine. Only when the oceans run dry (the source of hydrogen) will fusion power come to an end.

An invitation to Mrs. LaVan

EDITOR — In regards to Grace LaVan's letter of Jan. 27. First of all we would like to invite Ms. LaVan for an open discussion about facts on the Westland Dept. of Aging as soon as possible.

Also, in return we would like to be invited to the Dept. of Aging in the Nor-Wayne area to see how they operate.

We, the volunteers, know we are not being used for any candidate any time. We can work for them but that doesn't mean we have to vote for them. (This is America), we have our rights.

All candidates had their volunteer workers, even some people from the Friendship Center.

We walk into our Dept. of Aging center and ask what we can do to help. We are never told what we have to do. As a volunteer it was with great pleasure we helped serve the New Mayor and Council on the Eve of their swearing in Ceremony.

Also let it be known we do not feel we will be asking for Welfare because of a money donation to the Dept. of Aging, this was a free will offering.

Our health and Welfare has been saved by the help and understanding of the Deputy Director.

We pray the Dept. of Aging can continue to help and serve all the past, present and future needy people of Westland as it is doing now.

For a matter of fact this pen we are using is in Hidenfelters say thank you

EDITOR — I would like to thank your staff for the excellent article they did on Harry Hidenfelter and the Memorial Library.

Our family was always proud of Harry and the concern he showed for the boys and girls, and the community. His efforts have been returned in the form of care, concern and great moral support.

And I would like to sincerely thank each and every one who helped make the Harry Hidenfelter Memorial Library a reality, and the dedication ceremonies a success.

Delete Kureth from recall?

EDITOR — We question the rationale of the Chairman of the Recall Committee to delete Darwin Kureth's name from the list of recall-ees from the Van Buren Town Board.

The Chairman has stated that there was "insufficient support" for Trustee Kureth's recall.

We ask was the "insufficient support" because Trustee Kureth was one of the circulators? or is the reason for deleting Trustee Kureth's name from the recall list because he has aligned himself with the Recall Committee?

We would like to report to the Recall Committee the information that the Van Buren Town Board has accepted the resignation of Richard Debs as Commander of the Police Department and he is no longer a "threat to unlimited liability to the Township" as quoted by the Chairman of the Recall Committee as one of the reasons for the recall.

Incidentally Trustee Kureth approved the appointment of Richard Debs as a member of the Van Buren Police Department on the recommendation of former Police Chief George Montgomery.

We reiterate, the Town Board has no control over the operation of the Wayne Disposal Landfill.

If Township residents are displeased with the control and operation of the aforesaid landfill they should take their complaints to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Stevens T. Mason Building, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, Michigan, 48909. The Director of the DNR is Harold A. Tanner.

The occasional use of Town owned cars for personal use is one of the "fringe benefits" of political life. Many officials in other branches of government not only use the vehicles for personal use but are chauffeured around town. This personal use of vehicles is one of the most inane and weakest reasons for the recall of elected public officials.

Groundhog Day

The groundhog (and his shadow) on February "two" has a responsibility concerning me and you.

It's odd we make that rodent a prophet of the weather. He's good as any forecaster, or all of them together.

We don't even have to pay him in a monetary way. He has no pockets nor a pouch to hold a menial pay.

Did the groundhog see his shadow when he went out to play? He doesn't seem to worry much if winter's here to stay.

Why should he concern himself with warm days we hold dear? When the only thought we give him is just one day of the year.

Reflections

Dreams and fried eggs

While standing barefoot at the kitchen stove, scraping away at the egg-pan I began feeling sorry for myself. I did a little sniffing and my husband looked up from his newspaper and said tenderly, "What the hell are you bawling about?"

His concern overcame me and I wiped my eyes with the corner of the hot pad and told him.

"I had this awful, awful dream last night," I sniffled. "I dreamed the girls in my bridge club were trying to get rid of me, and I didn't want to go. That dream has just gripped me, and, well, you know how I feel about dreams. Thirty years is a long time to play with one group of people."

He just sat and looked at me and didn't answer. I became more and more depressed, so putting a cover on the eggs I went over to the telephone and gave each bridge-clubber a call.

"I dreamed last night you were trying to get rid of me," I whimpered to the first one.

"Oh, for heaven's sake, why would we want to get rid of someone who pays her dues right on time...." she answered.

"You're sure you count those I.O.U.'s as paid up dues?"

"Sure," she answered. "But don't forget your checkbook next month."

The next one I called howled, "What did you eat last night?"

"Just your dessert at last night's bridge party," I answered.

"Well, I can tell you, we don't want to get rid of someone who never overbids her hand nor trumps her partner's ace, or anything like that," she reassured me. "Of course, if that doesn't sound like you...."

Feeling a bit better I called another one. When I told her of my dream, she let out a wild whoop.

"M'gosh," she yelled. "Where could we ever find another one who is never later than an hour and a half, and who is always cheerful when we call on Bridge Club night to remind her she's supposed to be playing bridge...and not sleeping?"

"Well, hardly anywhere," I answered, and the tears were almost dried up.

"Now you just go back to bed," she consoled, "and dream a dream of how nice the girls are, and how they would never try to replace the one member who is always sorry she can't have the Christmas Party. It's your humility and your gratefulness that makes us love you," she said.

That made me feel good. Hanging up the telephone I turned to see my husband attacking his egg with a hacksaw.

"Gee, that's a relief," I said. "Maybe it was one of those dream transference things. Maybe someone else wants to get rid of me and I transferred the thought to the bridge club, like Bergson or someone says...."

Watching his struggle with the eggs a horrible thought jumped into my mind.

"Maybe it's you that wants to get rid of me," I cried.

"Awww...," he answered sawing away, "whoever would want to get rid of someone who can fry eggs like this?"

How many times during the first three weeks of the year the furnace actually stopped running and took a breather. (Practically never, if my record-breaking, bone-chilling gas bill is any indication.)

How many inches of snow actually fell on Detroit and the surrounding area during the "Blizzard of '82". (4½ to 12 inches, depending on where you lived and which newscast you listened to.)

How long the "Blizzard of '82" lasted. (It began at the beginning of six o'clock news on Saturday and continued on through to the end of the eleven o'clock news on Sunday, with sporadic flurries of newscasts throughout the day on Monday.)

There, now...if that doesn't get me invited to parties next winter, I don't know what will.

Fun with winter misery

I've moaned and groaned to everyone I know about winter, and so far everyone I know, except for one, has moaned and groaned back. It's one of those comforting constants about winter in Michigan — everyone, I mean everyone — complains about it.

Except, as I said, for my one friend. She has said, once too often as far as I'm concerned, "Oh, I don't know — I kind of like icy roads and a foot of snow — it's sort of a challenge to get through it."

This from a person who doesn't ski, doesn't skate, doesn't even snowmobile — all she does, as far as I know, is drive in the stuff. So, since I can only take so much of that kind of talk from a person who is supposed to be my friend — but since I can't, on the other hand, bear to hurt her feelings, I've decided to tell her that this year I've given her up for lent and can't see her again until Easter.

Personally, I can't help but feel a little sorry for her. She's missing out on that special camaraderie that goes along with struggling through winter together.

The "All for one and one for all" kind of thing.

The "I can take it if you can take it" mentality.

Spring and summer are fine for the small talk, the chit-chat, the hanging-over-the-fence sort of stuff, but you either get into the heavy stuff in winter or you walk alone, as far as I can see.

Ice storms, 50-degrees-below-zero wind chill factors and 12 inches of snow are real "items" in this part of the country. The local TV stations interrupt our favorite programs, preempt world news and provide electronic weather maps just to get all that information to us, for Heaven's sake. The least we can do is talk and talk and talk about it.

And I can do that — I can talk and talk and talk about it — once. But beyond that, I have this teeny little problem about winters. I only remember the one I am immediately involved with.

Everyone else I know (except, I suppose, for my friend who actually likes winter) remembers in infinitesimal detail the storms of '47, '52, '69, '74, '79 and '81 (if I hit upon storms that really happened during those years, believe me, it was purely coincidental), and can describe them to you down to the last snowflake.

They'll say things like, "Sure you remember, that was the time when 200 cars plowed into each other at the foot of Woodward!" or "Cmon, you have to remember — that was the storm when AAA had so many calls ahead of yours, they couldn't come to start your car until May 15!"

Sometimes, when it's something on a par with 200 cars melded together at the foot of Woodward, I will remember the incident, if not the exact winter. Then I can at least talk about it.

More often, though, rather than admit I don't remember and risk alienation (I don't like to walk alone — especially in winter), I will just nod my head and take their word for it.

What I should do — right now — is write down every little detail of, say, the last four weeks: How many record-setting, below zero days we've had (I'll get that from Mal Sillars when he does a recap of the winter.)

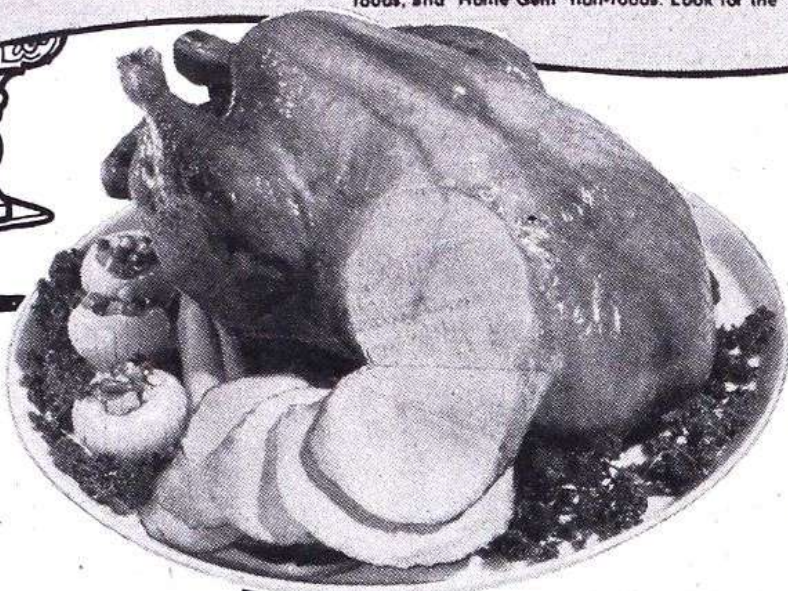

How many times in January the phrase "Super Bowl XVI" was mentioned, as opposed to "record-breaking, bone-chilling temperatures". (I figure about 2 to 1 in favor of the record-breakers)

Plymouth Symphony to perform Sunday

Six members of the Plymouth Symphony will be featured in the Symphony's "All Orchestra Gala" at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium.

Under the direction of Conductor Johan Van der Merwe, the concert will include compositions by Franz Doppler, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, Franz Liszt and Peter Ilyitch Tchaikowsky.

Featured artists will be Glennis Stout and Allen Warner, flutists; Louis Stout, hornist; Kristy Meretta, oboist; John Mohler, clarinetist, and Jennifer Kelley, bassoonist.

Sinfonia Concertante, which will open the program, is designed for four wind instruments and orchestra. According to the program notes, it is not authentically Mozart but may be an adaptation of a lost Mozart original.

Doppler's Concerto for Two Flutes makes liberal use of the large orchestra and resembles a potpourri of imagined operatic scenes.

Franz Liszt's Les Preludes rates as the most popular of his symphonic poems, which numbered 12, written between 1848 and 1858. Van der Merwe describes the work as "a very abstract kind of program music...an old concert favorite of mine."

The Romeo and Juliet Fantasy Overture that concludes the program was Tchaikowsky's first important composition. The Russian composer was provided the idea for the work, written in 1970, by Russian composer and pianist Mily Balakirev.

Coffee and tea will be served during intermission by the Plymouth Symphony League while area Girl Scouts will offer free babysitting service for pre-school children at the auditorium, located at Joy and Canton Center Roads.

Tickets, priced at $5 for adults and $2.50 for senior citizens and full-time students, will be available at the box office on Sunday. Students in the 12th grade and younger are admitted free.

The concert is made possible by a state grant through the Michigan Council for the Arts and the Plymouth Symphony League.

MOVIES

Critic lists top 10 productions of 1981

By J. T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

The year 1981 saw some remarkable films but no truly outstanding soon-to-be-classics. Hopefully the glut of horror movies has abated somewhat, and it's anyone's guess as to what movie trend will take its place.

Seasonally, 1981 had one of the best summer seasons in a long time, and one of the worst Christmas/holiday seasons in recent memory.

Here, then, in no particular order, are the films that I feel are the most viewworthy of 1981:

"Chariots of Fire" As the story of what makes two men run, this film also hints at what makes each tick, even if we're not world champions. "Chariots of Fire" has been criticized for being a movie version of "Masterpiece Theater," but what's wrong with that?

"Atlantic City" Why is it that a French director has to make one of the best films about America in recent years? Louis Malle and Burt Lancaster combine to present what might easily be the film of 1981.

"Body Heat" If nothing else, 1981 was the year of Lawrence Kasdan. He wrote "Raiders of the Lost Ark," "Continental Divide," and wrote as well as directed the steamiest, most atmospheric movie of '81. This film along with "Raiders of the Lost Ark" are films I can watch over and over again.

"Raiders of the Lost Ark" See above. This is a movie movie.

"Prince of the City" Sidney Lumet attacks one heck of a story with his considerable talent at telling stories. Add a bravura performance by Treat Williams and an ensemble company of New York's finest actors and you have memorable movie making.

"The Last Metro" Truffaut does for theater in this film what he did for films in his classic "Day For Night." Catherine Deneuve is an actress I could watch over and over again.

"Ragtime" Why is it that a Czechoslovakian director has to make one of the best films about America in recent years? OK, so he didn't get all of the novel, but no one ever does. And bravo to James Cagney.

"The French Lieutenant's Woman" Here's a case of a movie being quite different than the novel, yet being very faithful to the novel's intentions.

Harold Pinter's script may have sacrificed a bit of passion for a look at changing sexual politics, but Meryl Streep proves she can handle anything from Harold Pinter to Woody Allen. Someone may be handing her an Academy Award.

"Reds" Warren Beatty gets into the top ten because his epic film of the life of John Reed wins the "degree of difficulty" award. Lasting three hours and twenty minutes the film covered two decades, the Russian Revolution, the rise of the American left, and one heck of a love story.

He not only co-wrote the script but directed and starred in the film as well. And at last, an American director makes a great film about America.

"Pennies From Heaven" This is a film I would not suggest everyone rush and see, but it is a brave venture. Herbert Ross took chances by creating a depressing musical, and Steve Martin took chances playing a role that alienates the audience.

Betty Boop, er, Bernadette Peters is just perfect, and the musical numbers are simply superb.

See you at the movies.

Annual Bake-Candy Sale set by Eastern Star

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
699-4021

The annual Candy and Bake Sale of Belleville Chapter No. 73, O.E.S., will be held at the Ben Franklin store on Main Street on Saturday, February 13, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Mrs. Dorothy Curtis was an honored guest at a retirement tea on Wednesday, Jan. 20, given by the faculty of the North Junior High School where she has been employed as secretary in the library. She retired January 29.

Mrs. Henry Deering and friend, Miss

Josephine Simon, motored to Detroit last Tuesday afternoon to call on Mrs. Deering's sister-in-law, Mrs. Augusta Butsche, who was celebrating her 94th birthday. Mrs. Butsche has been a resident of the Evangelica Home on Outer Drive for a number of years.

Mrs. Margaret Saunders of Liberty Street accompanied teacher friends, Mildred Gadd and Shirley Corliss of Wayne, to East Jordan where they attended the funeral of the former's aunt, Mrs. Bernice Knop, held in the Oak Chapel of the Vanderwall Funeral Home in East Jordan on Sunday, Jan. 24. Mrs. Knop, a retired teacher, passed away suddenly at her home on Thursday evening, Jan. 21, at 76 years of age. The ladies returned home on Monday.

Annette Carr of Livonia was a weekend guest, recently, of her friend Rachel Collins of Borgman Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Henderson of Belleville Road entertained at a dinner Sunday, Jan. 24, honoring their daughter, Patricia Little of Westland, on her birthday. Present besides Mrs. Little's sons, William and Ronald, were an aunt and uncle, Mary and Don Miller, from Garden City, and a neighbor, Mrs. Zula Hopson.

The members of Belleville Chapter No. 73, Order of the Eastern Star were saddened to hear of the death of a sister, Dolores Richardson of Manchester, Grand Conductress of the Grand Chapter, O.E.S., in Michigan. Mrs. Richardson passed away suddenly Monday, Jan. 25, while attending a Rainbow installation.

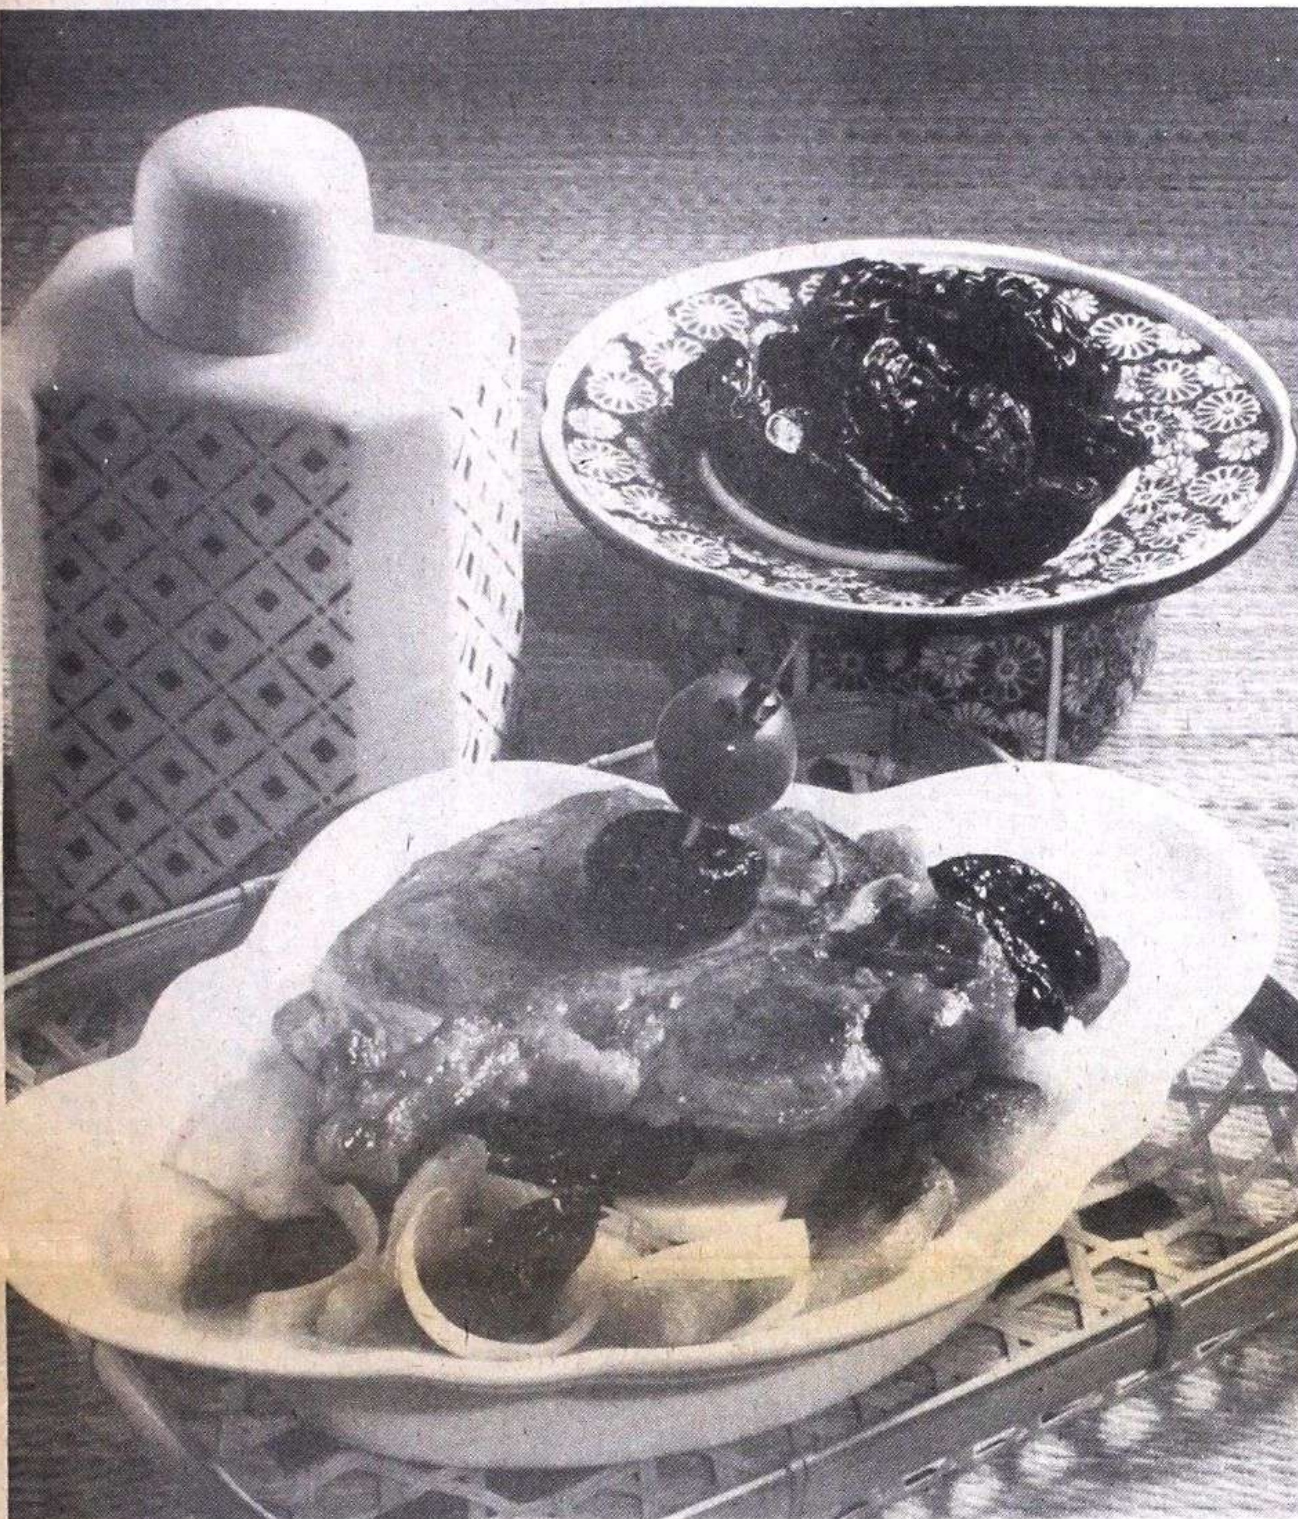

Sunday dinner guests at the Robert Collins home on Borgman Street were Mrs. Collins sister and husband, Mary and Gordon Van Valkenburg and family from Ypsilanti.

Members of Belleville Chapter, O.E.S., who attended Worthy Grand Matron's Day at a dinner and meeting of Wayne County Association held at Grosse Pointe Masonic Temple Saturday, Jan. 23, were Ruth McAtee, Connie Qubaci, Florence McKelvey, Karen Tomey, Mary Grover, Frances Cothorn, Kay Parker and Kenneth Ely. Hostess for the meeting were members of Lake Shore Chapter.

In celebration of their son, Steven's 16th birthday, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Korgal of Hall Road entertained at a family dinner on Sunday, Jan. 24. Present besides members of their family were grandmothers, Mrs. Frances Korgal of Sumpter Road and Mrs. Sophia Rose of Lenmore Drive, the Jim Schultz family of Hoeft Road and Stacey Korgal, daughter of the Frank Korgals of Belleville Road.

Funeral services for Mr. Stanley Jacysz of Lauren Court were held Thursday, Jan. 28, at St. Anthony's Catholic Church. He passed away Sunday, Jan. 24. Burial took place in Michigan Memorial Park. Mr. Jacysz will be remembered here as the man who was in charge of the meat department in Young's Grocery for many years.

Quick and tasty

Double-Decker Pork Chops make delicious use of economical cuts of pork, such as these thin chops which become fancy enough for company when sandwiched with a fruity stuffing of prunes, bouillon, water chestnuts seasoned with soy sauce, ginger and garlic.

For your recipe file

Stuffed Pork Chops are easy on budget

One of the classic food combinations of all times is pork and prunes. There's something about the richness of the pork cut by the fruity tang of the prunes that makes this combination a special favorite.

While most pork and prune recipes rely on elaborate boned pork roasts filled with fancy prune stuffing, the same combination can do wonders for even the lowly pork chop and make it elegant company fare.

This pork and prune combination is simple to make and does lovely things for budget-wise, thin-sliced pork chops often found in the meat section of your supermarket. These stuffed chops are easy and inexpensive enough for family meal but glamorous enough to serve company, too.

Prunes add moistness and fruity flavor to the stuffing. Water chestnuts add crunch. Soy sauce and Oriental seasonings add an exotic touch.

To make this dish, just toss prunes, bouillon, seasonings and sauteed vegetables with bread cubes and heat through. While most stuffed pork chops require thick cuts in which a pocket is carefully slit to hold the stuffing, this easier version takes two cooked thin pork chops and sandwiches the filling in between. Using the thin sliced pork chops is more economical, quicker cooking and simpler to prepare.

You can serve this versatile stuffing separately, as a side dish accompaniment to chicken, pork or beef. It's a wonderful way to give new life to leftover roast meats.

Prunes added to stuffings and other dishes provide good nutrition, too. These moist and chewy dried fruits contain such nutrients as vitamin A, iron, vitamin B6, potassium and fiber as well.

Keep prunes handy to add to other favorite stuffing recipes. Have extra packages on hand for easy, nutritious and delicious snacks. Prunes keep well in a cool, dry place. For long-term storage, keep them in the refrigerator.

From prunes plumped in fruit juice for breakfast, to pitted prunes in the lunch box or simmered in main dish sauces, these delicious morsels of plum-sweet flavor will contribute good taste and good nutrition to your menus with ease.

DOUBLE-DECKER STUFFED PORK CHOPS

- 1 cup (about 6 ounces) pitted prunes, halved
- 1/4 cup water
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 1 medium green pepper, seeded and diced
- 1 medium onion, peeled and sliced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 4 cups lightly packed 1-inch bread cubes
- 1 can (8 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and diced
- 1/4 cup sliced green onions
- Pepper, to taste
- 12 thin pork chops
- Cherry tomatoes and pitted prunes, for garnish

In bowl combine prunes, water, soy sauce, garlic and ginger; set aside. In 3-quart saucepan saute green pepper and onion in butter 5 minutes. Add bread; toss. Add prune mixture and water chestnuts. Toss gently over medium-low heat 3 minutes. Add green onions and pepper. Toss until heated through; keep warm. Meantime, broil or fry pork chops; bone, if desired. For each serving, "sandwich" stuffing, equally divided, between each pair of pork chops; skewer with a wooden pick garnished with a cherry tomato and pitted prune.

The deadline for signing up is February 10 and the price for the trip is $19 per person, minus the $5 paid by the Township, making the price $14 per person.

Just in passing

It's been a long time since I heard that!

By KAY DeBORD

I met a nice young woman the other day — and in passing conversation the talk got around to children.

After we compared notes on that — she casually mentioned that she had two grandchildren — and in honest amazement, I told her she didn't look old enough to have grandchildren.

Then I mentioned that I had FIVE grandchildren — and waited expectantly for her to return the compliment.

Instead she started talking about the high cost of clothes, and I stood there with my morale drooping.

Suddenly it dawned on me that I hadn't heard that particular comment for several years!

That's the thing about getting older — it sneaks up on you — especially when you don't work at it (like dieting, skin care and exercise) as hard as you should. Ask me about it!

Thinking back, it occurred to me that I had been referring to people in their late thirties as young people — and that my personal ailments had been conversational topics for a while — and my spirit of adventure (like braving the elements) had trickled down to a passing whim that is soon nipped in the bud (can you nip a whim?).

Don't misunderstand — having those five grandchildren is one of the nicest things that has ever happened to me and I certainly don't fit the Norman Rockwell "grandma" image (I HAVE been told that!).

I suppose that I might as well get used to not hearing expressions of amazement at my youthful mien when I confess to grandmother status.

It's really not as bad as I am making out. Getting older isn't bad at all when you consider the other alternative — but, I hope to do it gracefully (hope to? I'm fighting every inch of the way!).

If I really get busy on my diet, it's not really for my ego — it's for my blood pressure. Just ask my doctor! (And who do I think I'm kidding?).

If I slather on the moisture cream at night it's just because my skin is so DRY from the furnace heat and I can't risk chapped skin when I brave the cold out-of-doors. Ha!

It's a comfort to see such prominent people as Ronnie's Nancy and his ex — Jane — and see that it's taken a lot of work to keep them on the glamorous category when I know that they are older than I am — and besides they have lots of money to help them out. Not to mention designer clothes and such.

Come to think of it, I'm not doing so bad. I have a Man of the House who still seems to appreciate me (on alternate days and months) a couple of daughters to which I can "point with pride" and those five special grandchildren that seem to think the old gal isn't too bad.

I guess "thinking young" is the secret of staying young — at heart at least. And I can think young with the best of them!

Belleville on the brink

Unbeaten Wayne seeks WW champ's swim crown

Belleville, a consistent winner at the prestigious Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championships and the Division A defending champion, will run up against an array of difficulties when the prestigious invitational is staged on Friday and Saturday.

For the first time in many years the Tigers aren't considered to figure in the title running as undefeated Wayne Memorial, Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson are expected to be cast in the roles of pre-tournament favorites.

The 1982 invitationals will be held on Friday and Saturday with a field of 16 area teams competing for two divisional championships.

At Wayne Memorial will be the stronger of the two fields with Coach Jim McPartlin's Zebras hosting Salem, Livonia Franklin, Belleville, Stevenson, Cherry Hill, Wyandotte, Thurston.

At the same time, Westland John Glenn will entertain teams representing Dearborn Heights Annapolis.

Robichaud, Bentley, Livonia Churchill, Plymouth Canton, Garden City East and Garden City West.

"I'm sure fans will be treated to some of the finest high school talent in the state this year," said Coach McPartlin, whose swimmers have an untarnished 8-0 record this season.

"Salem, Stevenson and Cherry Hill have some superb young swimmers and Garden City West has the frontrunners in Division B - it should be another excellent meet for everyone."

Friday's competitions at Wayne get underway at 4 p.m. with the preliminaries of the swimming events; diving prelims are scheduled for 12:30 p.m.

The championships at Wayne will be decided at 2 p.m.

There is a 50 cents admission charge for students. Adult tickets are $1 and $1.50 for the preliminary events and the championship, respectively.

The schedule at John Glenn was not available before press time.

Salem, Stevenson are next

Tigers shoot for glory

Although their chances are slim in catching Plymouth Salem's undefeated Suburban 8 Conference cage leaders, Belleville will be shooting for glory Friday night when Coach Tom Niemi's prodigals host the defending champ.

After splitting with two out-of-conference rivals, Plymouth Canton and Wyandotte, last week, Belleville carries an over-all 4-8 and a 3-3 league record into the week.

A succession of agonizing setbacks like an injury to senior Chris Flum earlier in the campaign has produced the Tigers' so-so record.

And with Salem and Class A state-ranked Livonia Stevenson standing in their path, this could be an interesting week for the local quintet.

"This is our final shot at Salem who'll be departing for another league next year," Niemi pointed out, "and, needless to say, we'd like to win the last one. Our series with Fred Thomann and his Rocks have always been exciting."

Flum returned to the Belleville line-up last Friday and it was his first start since sustaining a leg injury on Dec. 17 in a game against Salem. The 6-2, 175-pound senior contributed 10 points in a 56-53 loss to Wyandotte which came up in the waning minutes of the game to pull out the victory thanks to some clutch free-throws.

Wyandotte canned 10 of 11 from the foul line in the final period to seal the victory. The Bruins finished up the game with 20 of 31 at the charity stripe as compared to Belleville's 20 field goals and 13 of 23 free throws.

Close to the very end, Belleville held a 15-13 edge after the initial period, but trailed 27-23 at halftime and 34-33 for three-quarters.

Belleville's Reggie Gratham whirled and rifled in a game high 21 points, while Flum and Mike Mellon split 20 points between them.

Jim Wisbang sank 17 to lead the Bruins with Jim Yuranick and Mike Brennan each scoring 13.

Earlier in the week, Belleville destroyed Plymouth Canton 63-38 as Grantham tossed in 18 points and teammate Sam Villa accounted for 16, his highest single-game total for the season. The Tigers also got 10 points from Kevin Saunderson.

Canton, lethargic at the free throw line where the Chiefs made six of 22 chances, had only one player in double figures in Tim Harris who made five from the field and one of two free throws for 11.

'Hands across the ball'

Dueling for this loose ball are Cherry Hill's Tom Michno (34) and Glenn's Todd Stein. Despite knocking off the Westlanders earlier in the campaign, Coach Dave Bogataj's Spartans have been in a tails-pin and are on the verge of losing their Tri-River Conference cage crown. Cherry Hill is matched up against Garden City West this week, the only league team it has defeated this season.

Wayne posts 8th straight swim win

Allowing most of his top-notch swimmers to rest, Coach Jim McPartlin and Wayne polished off Lincoln Park 121-47 as the Zebras continued their undefeated streak in swimming.

Wayne captured eight of 11 first places as McPartlin peppered his line-up with underclassmen who responded well under pressure, according to the Wayne coach.

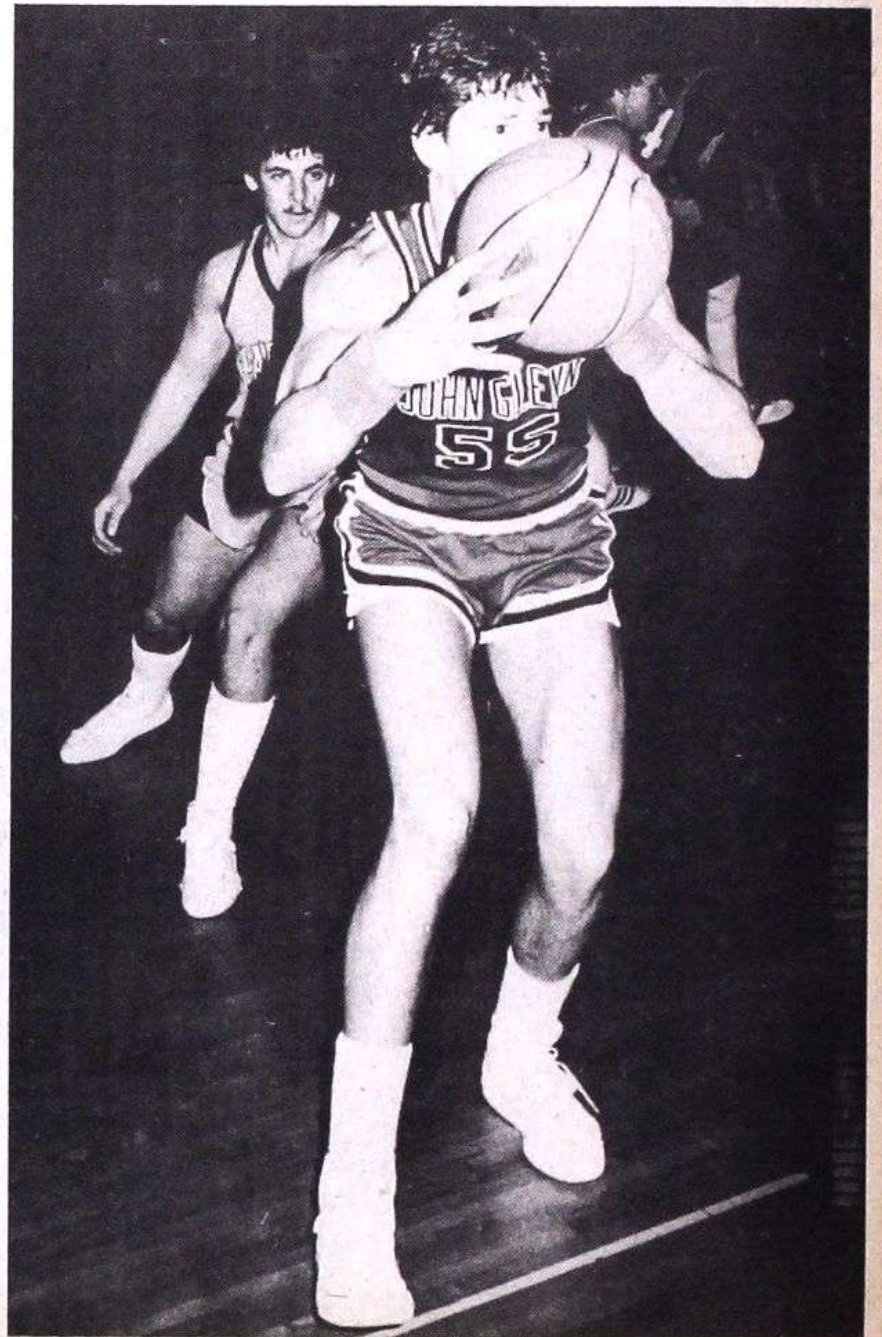

"I used our veterans in the last relay," McPartlin said, "but most of the other events were filled with some of our untested swimmers."

"The kids looked good."

Wayne now has a 2-0 Great Lakes 8 Conference record and will take a perfect 8-0 record into Friday's Western Wayne Invitational. The Zebras will host the A Division of the meet with Plymouth Salem and Cherry Hill among the field that is considered prime title contenders.

Jack Walker (above), John Glenn's promising 6-5 junior center, takes an inbound pass during action against Garden City East's Panthers Friday night. Walker and the Rockets came away with a victory to even their conference record at 3-3, and the Westlanders will try to go over the .500 mark for the first time this year when they take on another Northwest Suburban Conference foe, Thurston, at the Redford-based high school's gym. They'll take natural rival, Wayne Memorial, on Tuesday in the Zebras' corral.

Golden Gloves show slated

Some of the state's top boxers will compete in the Golden Gloves Amateur Boxing Show on February 13 at Garden City West High School, located at 1851 Radcliff Road (south of Ford between Venoy and Wayne Roads).

Sponsored by the Westland Sparks Wheelchair Basketball team and the Garden City Parks and Recreation Department, the show will begin at 7 p.m. with tickets priced at $6 for ringside and $3 for bleachers.

Among former Golden Gloves winners from the Detroit area are Joe Louis

(the first Detroit to win a National Golden Gloves title—1934), Al Netplov, Mickey Goodwin and Thomas Hearn.

This year's event will feature representatives from Kronk, Police Athletic League, Westland, Garden City and Livonia teams.

Advance tickets are available at the Bailey Recreation Center in Westland, the Garden City Ice Arena and the Maplewood Community Center in Garden City. Ticket information can also be obtained by calling 722-7620 or 421-0610.

Last shot 'in and out'

Spartans feel agony of defeat

Cherry Hill's Dave Bogataj has that "Bill Frieder feeling."

"When you start losing, you begin wondering if you'll ever win one," said Bogataj after his Spartans dropped a thriller 46-45 to Taylor Kennedy.

Like Frieder, the University of Michigan's head cage coach, Bogataj is suffering through his worst season at Cherry Hill. His cagers have won only one Tri-River Conference starts in seven outings and only three games in 14 overall.

"When you lose you begin to have all sorts of problems," Bogataj says, "and it's up to you as coach to keep your team going. You have to instill confidence in your players, but it's really difficult."

The Spartans marched into the Kennedy game without their scoring leader, John Green, who was benched because of disciplinary reasons. Green has been scoring at an 18 point per game clip. In fact, Cherry Hill wasted Green's excellent effort against Willow Run earlier in the week.

Willow Run broke loose from a 47-all tie with six minutes left and rang up a 70-52 victory despite Green's 18 points and Ken Weatherby's 10. The Flyers' "super sophs," brothers Andrea and Brian Bond, scored 22 and 14 points respectively against their out-of-conference rivals.

Close until the last six minutes, Willow Run held a narrow 26-23 halftime lead but couldn't shake their rivals until late in the game when the Spartans committed six turnovers and Willow Run turned them into four three-point plays.

Now back to the Kennedy game. Using a zone, the Spartans managed to force Kennedy to shoot from the outside where Dan Reitneyer came up with a handful of direct hits to keep his team in the running.

Tied at the end of the first two periods at 10 and 24-all, Kennedy edged ahead by three 36-33 for three periods when Weatherby and Tom Pietruska came up with two key baskets each to give the defending Tri-River Conference champs a slim three-point lead midway in the finale.

However, Reitneyer and Ken Avery countered with go-ahead buckets to put the Eagles ahead by one with seconds left.

"We had the last shot," Bogataj related, "and the ball went in and out of the basket. It seems that that is how our luck has been all year."

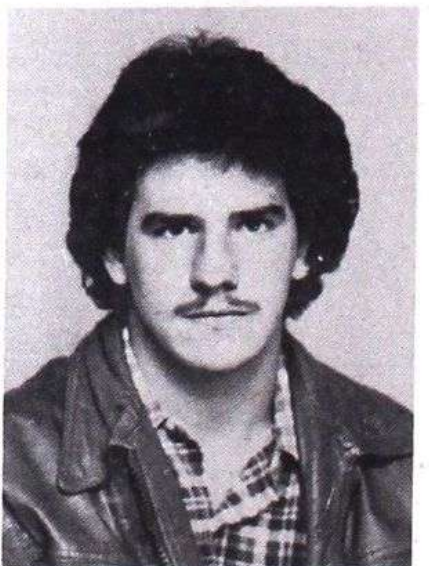

"Do you know we've lost at least seven games by less than five or three points each?" Bogataj rhetorically asked.

The Spartans also had ample opportunities from the field but made only 20 of 50 shots, while they canned five of nine free throws as compared to Kennedy's two of six effort.

Cherry Hill faced Garden City West Tuesday night - the only team it has thus far beaten in the league, then will travel to Dearborn Heights Crestwood on Friday as the second round of league play gets underway.

Hawley hustles

Snatching the ball away from his opponent, Westland John Glenn's Bob Hawley (33) shows why the Rockets are always a team to contend with on the hardwood. Hawley and his younger brother, Jeff, teamed up for 25 points between them to spark the Westlanders to a 60-52 victory over Northwest Suburban Conference rival Garden City East Friday night.

Wayne grapplers eye league crown

Wayne Memorial will be the team to beat on Saturday when members of the Great Lakes 8 Conference convene to wrestle for the 1982 conference championships.

With impressive victories over Temperance Bedford and winner of the North Farmington Invitational in their credentials, Coach Don Haney's Zebras should encounter little difficulty in snatching the title away from Monroe and Fordson, considered their premier opponents.

The championships are a tune-up for Wayne which must get ready for the districts scheduled for a week from Saturday.

Cagers lookin' good

Here come the Zebras

By ERIC GEARNS
Special Writer

Anybody who saw Coach Dan Vasilloff's Wayne Memorial Zebra basketball team early in the season and gave up on them as losers, may be sorry they did that.

The Zebras have been playing extremely well of late.

After giving powerful Ypsilanti a fight right down to the wire, and handing Taylor Truman a thorough trouncing, the Zebras split a pair this past week demolishing Garden City East 67-53 and narrowly missing on a comeback attempt to Taylor Center 62-59.

"We are finally becoming familiar with the system and our whole team has built up confidence that they can win," said Vasilloff. "There isn't anyone we play now that we don't believe we can beat, and we are going to peak just in time for playoffs it looks like," he added.

Against Garden City, the Zebras started slowly, but four first quarter points each by Shaun Boyer, Vince Patterson, and Steve Coleman lifted the Zebras to a slim 14-12 first quarter lead.

The second quarter was all Wayne as Boyer led the attack with eight points while Jim Nibert and Norm Devoe tallied six each to outscore the Panthers 26-10 and take a 40-22 lead into the locker-room at halftime.

The biggest reason for the large lead was the extremely hot shooting by the Zebras who threw in a torrid 76 percent of their attempts from the field.

While Wayne was unable to keep up their torrid shooting pace they still managed to outscore the Panthers 12-9 in the third stanza to take a 21 point lead into the final quarter.

With the starters for Wayne on the bench Garden City made a small run in the final period but some clutch foul shooting by Dave Solarz and outstanding play by Tyress Wimberly off the bench held the Panthers in check and gave the Zebras a rather easy 14 point victory 67-53.

The Taylor Center game was almost a complete opposite of the GC contest. The first period was a two man show for the Zebras as Devoe and Nibert hit three field goals each to put the Zebras up 12-9 at the end of one.

The second stanza proved to be the undoing of the Zebras as the Ram's hot shooting guard, Edward Jones, poured in 10 of his game-high 25 points and teammate Jim Bilko added six to offset an eight point quarter by Nibert and push TC to a 37-29 halftime bulge.

Jones added six more points in the third stanza and TC extended its lead to 51-40. The Zebras had plenty of chances to narrow the gap in the third, but missed on six of seven free throw attempts.

The Zebras fought back in the final period and with 2:50 remaining took a one point lead over the Rams with a tough full court press and an outstanding defense led by Wimberly and Tony Bass.

Bass and Nibert meanwhile were combining for 13 points on seven and six respectively, and Gary Billing added four on two long jumpers.

However, the Zebras fell victim to three questionable officials calls in a row and TC went up by five.

Patterson's two free throws pulled the Zebras to within two, but the officials ignored an obvious TC foul and a technical for backboard interference on the final play and the Rams escaped with a 62-59 victory.

Vasilloff refused to lay the blame at the officials doorstep. "We lost the ball game at the foul line (5-12) we just can't afford to miss that many. Questionable calls are part of the game and you just have to play over them," said the first year mentor.

Nibert led the Zebra attack with a season high 22 points, while Bass (14) and Devoe (10), also reached the double digit mark. Jones led the Rams with 25 while Bilko added 15.

In Zebra jayvee action last week, Mike Quartuccio, Keith Strickland, Dave Hargrove, and Kevin Daily combined for 44 points as the junior Zebras handled GC East 64-58. Against Taylor Center Quartuccio and Strickland both bagged 16 points each, but the Zebras fell to TC 70-58.

Wayne will spend the whole week on the road this week as they traveled to Fordson Tuesday and will go to Lincoln Park on Friday, before returning home Tuesday for their final game of the season Tuesday Feb. 9, against cross district rival John Glenn.

Zebra fans are reminded that although the schedule indicates that Friday's game against Lincoln Park is shown as a home matchup it will actually be played at the Railsplitters gym due to an early season schedule change.

Down but not out

Westlander Todd Stein stumbles after leaping for a rebound, but the 6-1 sophomore got up and helped John Glenn overcome a pesky Garden City East last week. Although some would count the Westlanders, who are 3-3 in the league, out of the Northwest Suburban Conference title race, it may be too premature. Glenn figures to be in the running for the crown it captured a year ago and a lot depends on how Coach Dan Henry's cagers do Friday night at Thurston.

Over 30 hockey

Teams sharpen skates for playoff series

With Jake's Lounge clinging to a narrow one point lead in the Bonkowski Division and Tasee Freeze fighting for survival and the top billing in the Berrington Division, the Wayne - Westland Over 30 Hockey clubs prepare for their final games of the season.

In what was a highly penalized game, Tasee Freeze pulled off a 4-1 victory at the expense of All Sorts Sports.

Ron Wojewski tallied for the first goal of the game to give All Sorts Sports a 1-0 edge. John Castellanos received the assist on Wojewski's goal. The Freezer's skated back as Dave Frankling scored two goals; Bob Eggers tallied once and got two assists; Dave (Wolf) Cherry scored the final goal with 1:27 remaining in the game.

Brock Builders appeared to have its game won when it took a 3-0 lead over Jake's Lounge, but Jake's skated back in the third period to manage a 3-3 tie.

Brock's got on the scoreboard early as Larry Kaifesh, Jack Willard and Ken Murray found the net with Dennis Lapensee, Layne Cardinal and Dennis Wysocki assisting.

Jake's fired up in the third period as Jim Lear tallied once with one assist, with Rick Mullen and Keith Middaugh accounting for the remaining two goals. Al Farina, Jake Davidson, Gary Pierce and Gene Hudson received one assist.

Futurama Engineering scored its only goal midway in the first period as Tom Bryan's scored with Ken Knick assisting as Benny's Pizzeria exploded with four goals in the second and third periods to card a 8-1 victory.

Dave Zajac led Benny's with four goals; Rod Dittmar tallied once and picked up three assists; Claud Johnston scored one goal and received two assists while Curtis Oger and Bill Keskey tallied once with one assist. Dave Fishwick received two assists with Chuck Heebsh, Tony Ianni and Moe Paquette finishing with one assist.

Little Bill's Trophies kept its hopes alive by logging a 4-2 win over Family Heating. Joe Soukup had a perfect game scoring a hat trick and assisting on Ed Harmon's goal.

Family Heating got on the scoreboard with both goals scored by Norm Beasley. Jack Bockstanz received two assists with Joel Layne and Ray Erickson getting one assist.

Johnson Carbonic's Gene Machniak posted its first shutout of the season as Johnson's logged a 1-0 victory over Etronic. Johnson's game winning goal came in the second period with Errol Pulk netting the puck. Bob Capler and Dale Fawkes picked up the assists.

Looking ahead to the games on Sun. Feb. 7: Brook Builders and Etronic will battle at 7:30 p.m.; Little Bill's will host Johnson Carbonic at 9 p.m.; Benny's Pizzeria will skate against Tasee Freeze at 10:30 p.m. All three games will be at the Westland Rink.

At the Wayne Arena, Jake's Lounge will play Futurama Engineering at 8:30 p.m.; All Sorts Sports skate against Family Heating at 10 p.m.

Playoffs are slated to begin Sun. March 14.

State-wide petition drive aims at welfare reform

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

Has Michigan become a "Welfare Wonderland"?

Nancy Clark, the co-chairman of a petition drive aimed at welfare reform, told members of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce last week that the state's present average monthly welfare payment is 38 percent higher than the average payments of adjacent states.

In an effort to change the formula for such assistance, the Save Our State Committee is seeking 300,000 signatures before May 26 to place the issue on the November general election ballot. Mrs. Clark said.

The Welfare Limitation Petition calls for the initiation of legislation to "provide that the state shall not pay welfare benefits at a rate higher than the average of the maximum ADC payment rates applicable in eligible families of equal size in the adjacent states."

According to Mrs. Clark, a Berrien County commissioner from Benton Harbor, such a proposal would save the state some $200 million in expenditures each year. Copies of the petition are available at the Wayne Chamber of Commerce office as well as most local chamber headquarters, she explained.

"We're showing our state a way to save money," said Mrs. Clark. "The rich get richer nowadays, the poor get richer and the middle class pays the bill. It happens because the middle class or so-called silent majority isn't organized."

Mrs. Clark supplied the chamber members with the following comparisons based on average monthly assistance payments to families in October of 1980, which showed Michigan as paying an average of $391.80. That amount rates higher than the following states: Ohio ($251.58), a 56 percent increase for Michigan residents; Indiana ($205.08), 91 percent; Illinois ($277.46), 41 percent; Wisconsin ($387.28), one percent; and Minnesota ($351.00), 12 percent with an average payment in adjacent states of $283.64, 38 percent lower than Michigan's.

"I've seen 'Michigan-Welfare Wonderland' bumper stickers in my county," said Mrs. Clark. "After investigating the situation we found out that people are actually moving into Michigan for the higher payments. That's encouraging non-productive citizens to locate here."

"Michigan has 67.7 percent more recipients on public assistance than the average of our adjacent states. Don't blame the recipient, just correct the system."

Since the petition drive was launched in September, some 32,000 signatures have been gathered, almost entirely from the state's southwestern region. Members of the Save Our State Committee are hopeful that a recently started statewide campaign will generate voter support.

To date the petition has prompted numerous supporters and opponents. Mrs. Clark revealed last week. Among those against the proposal are various state legislators and the state's Department of Social Services.

Included among the organizations that have endorsed the welfare petition are the Michigan Association of Counties and the Michigan Township Association. Mrs. Clark pointed out.

"The Legislature does not want to take money from the poor," she declared, "so they take money from the middle class and from a number of important programs. A Senate bill that would put our payments in line with other states has been stuck in committee for a couple years.

"Yet Michigan spends $170 per capita on education versus $257 per capita on social services."

Further information on the goals of the Save Our State petition efforts can be obtained by writing the organization at P.O. Box 374, St. Joseph, Michigan 49085. The group's phone number is (616) 983-1981.

"Our proposal won't solve all the state's problems," Mrs. Clark concluded, "but it's a step in the right direction. People in nearby states are obviously not starving to death because of lower payments. It should also be noted that these payments are not the only benefits provided to those in need."

SUMPTER TOWNSHIP PUBLIC HEARING MINUTES

MINUTES OF A PUBLIC HEARING OF THE SUMPTER TOWNSHIP BOARD
HELD ON JANUARY 26, 1982

Public Hearing called to order by Clerk Banotai at 7:30 P.M. with the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

With the absence of Supervisor Reeves, the Clerk asked for a motion to select a chairperson for the meeting.

Motion by Morgan, supported by Reaume, to select the Clerk to chair the meeting. Motion carried unanimously.

Clerk asked for Roll Call.

Present: Clerk Banotai, Treasurer Duey and Trustees: Reaume and Morgan.

Absent: Supervisor Reeves.

Excused: Supervisor Reeves.

Tardy: Trustees: Huziak and Bevins.

Also present: Attorney Witthoff, Engineer Wilhelmi, Deputy Clerk Sienko and approximately 25 interested citizens.

Motion by Reaume, supported by Morgan, to accept agenda. Motion carried unanimously.

Agenda

1. Pledge
2. Roll Call
3. Approval of Agenda
4. Discussion of Block Grant Program
5. Adjournment

Clerk Banotai asked Engineer Wilhelmi to explain the program to those present. He began by reading the notice as it had been published in the Belleville Enterprise. The 1982-85 Community Block Grant Program is a three year program. The three year program is to be laid out and strategy developed with a one year itemized program. It is to be established with the prime concerns of the residents. There is approximately $100,000 per year or $300,000 for the next three years.

Some of the areas in need that have been suggested are: Drains, Youth Programs, Recreation, Extension of Water Mains, Sanitary Sewers, Renovation of Old Fire Station, possible Library-Old Township Hall-School and update Master Plan. This is only a partial list and is in no particular order of importance. When a specific plan is worked up it will be published in the newspaper in its entirety with a specific time limit for citizens to make their comments, possibly a period of two to three weeks, after which time it will be brought before the Board for final adoption. It must then be submitted to Wayne County Community Block Grant Office and the Office of Urban Development by March 31, 1982.

This meeting is being held to hear suggestions from the Board and Township residents.

First to speak was Ed. Tupacz, 47385 Arkona Road — Requested the cleaning of the Marty Clark Drain from Sumpter Road to Elwell and Karr and Arkona Roads.

Engineer Wilhelmi stated the Township has established a regular program for drain cleanout but can work out priority changes if necessary.

M. Kohut, 17922 Sumpter Road, also suggested the ditches and drains on Sumpter Road, between Paris Drive and Bemis Road be made number priority.

Joe Tupacz, 48031 Arkona Road, also requesting drain cleanout.

Dan Welch, 28700 Karr Road, extension of water main on Karr Road and any other program that would benefit the Township by bringing revenue into the Township. D. Rochon, 19775 Sumpter Road, Township Fire Chief, asked that monies be spent on an addition and renovation of the old fire station. Some monies be set aside for additional equipment, if toxic waste is to be brought into the Township, such as Scott Air Packs, etc. Mrs. V. Drake, 24108 Martinsville Road, agreed with Mr. Welch on the extension of water mains and also the cleaning of the drains.

Mr. P. Drake, 24108 Martinsville Road, stated the capacity of the old Senior Center was for approximately 60 persons, and they have increased to 103; and they now have a Bingo Permit which will require more space, therefore, will be needing an addition to the old Senior Center or the acquiring of the old school. Alton Shelly, of the Romulus Help Center Minor Home Repairs, asked the Township's support by way of a request for $10,000.

Marion Carr, 29120 Elwell Road, spoke on the need of cleaning ditches, water main extensions and the care of the township roads.

With no more suggestions or comments from the citizens present, the Clerk asked for a motion to adjourn.

Motion by Duey, supported by Morgan, to adjourn. Meeting adjourned at 8:04 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,
Marie E. Sienko, Deputy Clerk
